

SoulSplitter v2 Migration/Update

When the v2 update goes live, v1 autosplit settings will break (your split file and PB data will be fine). This doc is dedicated to the v2 migration/updating process.

We have v2 split files with autosplit ready for you to download and use.

SoulSplitter v2 Google Drive folder:  SoulSplitter v2 Splits

How to Apply v2 Autosplits to Your Old Split File

You can configure your autosplits to your liking in Edit Splits → Settings. But for those who want to get set up quickly, here is a guide for importing standard community autosplit settings onto your old splits:

1. Download your desired autosplits from  Export Files
2. Open your old split file.
3. Right click LiveSplit → Edit Splits → Settings.
4. Under “File, press “Import Settings” and choose the .xml export file that you downloaded.
5. Done! Remember to double check that the settings changed as you wanted, and save after confirming that everything is in order.

Notable Changes From v1 to v2:

The UI has been overhauled to be more clean and efficient to use.

Each autosplit is now connected to a split. In the autosplits editor, you will see that you now assign autosplits per split. While on that split, SoulSplitter will only check for that particular split. In v1, all autosplits were being checked for at all times. Due to the new “one check at a time implementation”, you are able to use the same autosplit condition multiple times throughout a run. For example, you could use unlocking the Kuro’s Room Idol for both post-Geni dialogue, and for post-Owl dialogue, if you wanted.

Support/Help

Ask for help in #support on the Sekiro Speedrun Discord: <https://discord.gg/ZuXAVEx>. You may also message me (holm_gg on Discord or Holm on speedrun.com) for help, but I can’t guarantee that I have time to reply. I will try my best.