

Hey <name>,

I recently saw your video on youtube and I like how you mention the scientific research behind mechanical tension when working out.

I can see how that builds credibility with your audience and gains their trust.

After looking at more of your content and reviewing your website, I noticed that you aren't pushing your course out like some other top creators.

I've come across many other creators like Jeff Nippard, Jeremy Ethier, and Jason Helmes (on Twitter) doing more to make their course an appealing purchase to their fans which we could translate onto your website and content.

I put together an opt-in page you could use to get more people onto your email list and monetize their attention with valuable emails which I attached below.

You're welcome to implement it and if you are happy with my work we can talk more about expanding your brand.

With Energy,
