

KENSHO ONO - FIVE STAR (ENG)

Are you still sneaking looks at the display in your hand,
To compare the amount of stars?¹
Look, it's fine if you just barge in
With those legs, you can discover five stars

“The lined up menus look so similar to one another” you say every time
This monotonous life can't be fulfilling

Being alive. No more than that...

Try to knock on the invisible door
Follow your heart's desires and go for tomorrow
Right there will be something more certain than the words of strangers

Don't hesitate
Step forward
There will be something ahead

Innocent feelings
There is a time when nobody wants them anymore
Ah, not being understood by anyone
You don't even have the strength to say “I'm fine”

You're tackling this simple route in a complicated way
That will get you more and more caught up in it
Like a dead end street

You have no choice but to grow up...

The invisible door
Will always be waiting in front of us
Even though there will certainly be new scenes as we travel on this unknown path

If you took all the vague words and certain mistakes
And tightly embraced them just like yourself
Just how far could you go?

Try to knock on the invisible door
Follow your heart's desires and go for tomorrow
Right there will be something more certain than the words of strangers

Don't hesitate
Step forward
It's alright to believe at least in yourself
Don't stop moving
Step forward
There will be something ahead

¹ The stars most likely refer to customer reviews on the internet.