

Key Data Points: Texas Primary Elections

- Texas voters do not register as Democrats or Republicans. Any registered voter can vote in either party's primary, regardless of which primary you have voted in previously.
- Just 18 percent of registered Texas voters voted in the March 2022 primary elections.
- By comparison, 46 percent of registered Texas voters voted in the November 2022 general election. But the November elections are largely noncompetitive because districts have sizable majorities of Republican or Democratic voters.
- In the 2022 general election, all 150 seats in the Texas House were on the ballot. However, only five of those districts were decided by fewer than 10 percentage points.
- The voter registration deadline is February 5.
- Early voting begins February 20 and lasts until March 1. Election Day is March 5.