

THE UIU "UNUSUAL INCIDENTS UNIT"

Written by 'Griff'

*The UIU is a small group of individuals tasked with investigating anomalies around the globe, completely separate from the SCP Foundation. Along Only recently have they made themselves known in Site-73, requesting assistance from them in order to investigate, and deal with threats. Their leader being "Agent Bastion"

[GORE HOTEL ANOMALY]

The first instance in which Personnel from Site-73 Assisted the UIU with investigating an anomaly in [REDACTED]. The town had been seemingly abandoned, with no other human beings in sight, there was no remnants left from any living being to be found, only what was left in their homes. There was one strange sighting though, which engulfed the surrounding area in a red light, that being a hotel

with its walls and essentially its entire interior covered with flesh.

Upon further investigation of the town, a secondary group of agents were discovered. They were a russian group of soldiers known as the GRU-P, who were also tasked with investigating the anomaly, and discerning what to do. However their idea of 'investigation' did not clash well with the foundations idea of 'investigation'. As the foundation investigated the building, a device was inserted into one of the hotel's walls, which suddenly lead to the surrounding area being flooded by blood. Along with this, a Sarkik threat appeared along with it, immediately attacking any nearby personnel. However later as the first wave was killed, the GRU-P had some select few 'words' to say to the UIU, and the Foundation. The idea of the foundation going through with a bombing run on the town did not sit well with the GRU-P, in which they had suddenly opened fire on both the UIU and the Foundation. As the shootout commenced, more Sarkik's appeared leading to a 3-way battle. Eventually the UIU, along with the foundation persevered, taking out all of the hostile GRU-P that they could find, though their bodies could not be recovered due to the flooding of the blood. As the commotion died down, another Sarkik wave suddenly appeared, which lead to another firefight. However in the midst of this, a Foundation member ran into the hotel grabbing a specific laptop, which had information about both the GRU-P, and the anomaly they were investigating. It was later brought back to the foundation for examination, and Luckily some information was able to be salvaged from the laptop, though some of the laptop itself was fried, the UIU was able to figure out some info about the GRU-P

[GRU-P BUNKER RAID]

With the information gathered from the GRU-P's laptop, just one day after the investigation of the Hotel Anomaly, Agent Bastion returned to Site-73, requesting further assistance from NU-7, as well as other Foundation personnel willing to help. The Foundation and the UIU eventually moved out to a nearby GRU-P bunker, in order to rattle and sabotage their efforts, along with gathering any possible intel on them during the raid. From the information gathered from the laptop, the foundation were made aware of a High-leveled Intelligence Officer "Ivan Rostova".

It was also discovered that the GRU-P had active use of explosive weaponry, which may lead to complications in later raids. During the raid, the GRU-P appeared to be prepared for the Foundation and the UIU, having already set up Pillboxes and barricades, firing upon the Foundation and the UIU as soon as they were spotted. This however was a short lived ambush, in which the Foundation quickly took control, pushing in and securing the area.

They discovered it to be a simple bunker with only basic living necessities, bunks, a kitchen, and a small server room. A Computer was taken from this server room, however proved to be useless having no information worth gathering on it. This pc is currently in storage. Aside from this, the raid went smoothly, with only a few minor casualties on the foundations side.

[GRU-P FACILITY RAID]

*After the GRU-P Bunker raid, several hours later the UIU returned to Site-73 requesting further assistance with dealing with the next raid. Of course, the foundation quickly gathered troops and prepared to head out. However, upon reaching the GRU-P Facility, it was extremely quiet. As the UIU and Foundation approached, a GRU-P that had been at the 'gore hotel' was found hiding behind a set of sandbags, singing to himself about the 'red'. His codename being "Bishop". As the Foundation and UIU pushed further into the facility they were met with no hostile resistance from the GRU-P. However as they made their way through the facility, having blown through a wall they found a strange... well...
*Thing.

The two obelisk structures were emitting a very familiar light, which of course was the same light source found at the gore hotel. As it was investigated, a large sarkic horde emerged from nowhere launching an assault on the UIU and Foundation personnel inside. The Facility suddenly began to cave in on itself before proper information could be gathered on the obelisks, and as such the Foundation and UIU had to be evacuated. Unfortunately, only one UIU agent made it out alive, with the rest assumed to be currently deceased in the rubble of the facility.
