

Irukandji jellyfish are small and extremely venemous jellyfish that inhabit marine waters of Australia.

Their size is roughly a cubic centimetre ($1cm^3$).

They are usually found near the coast, attracted by the warmer water.