🌸 Hindu Conversion Certificate 🌸

This is to celebrate and certify that I, _____, currently living in the country of _____, re-enter my roots of Sanatan Dharma on the date of _____, with the temple or place of _____ as my witness, and proudly call myself a Hindu.

My chosen Hindu name is _____ (you may continue with the current one).

Sanatan Dharma is the religion and way of life that focuses on realising our Oneness with the world by (a) striving to become our Highest Ideal Self (through restraint), (b) practicing righteousness in all walks of life (through morals), and (c) dedicating our lives to the service of this society (through service).

With that said, I promise to defend, preserve and speak up for my Dharma, be curious about and read the texts of my culture, practice my faith with deep bhakti (devotion), support and join a sampradaya (group) to find support in community and gurus, and most importantly, do seva (service) for the welfare of society.

I will live to realise that I am neither my body, nor my mind, nor the labels given to me. I am returning to my roots as a Hindu, so I am first and foremost, my inner Atman.

May the Paramatma grace me and my loved ones with Their infinite love, wisdom and protection.
