SI: Students needs more..

Hey Sebastian,

You're on your computer again, "Only this game, mom". "Sebastian, you're not aware of your time value. Sebastian, You have been sitting in Your room for weeks"

Again, your mom keeps telling you what you are today - your phone with over 8 hours of screen time per day, your love for books, and spending grows between your social scariness, getting worse day by day. You're scared if someone goes on the treadmill beside you.

You can't see yourself as a man who is willing to work in society, who can take responsibility and face the world eye to eye without any stomach pain or headache.

Life as a pro-employee begins when a weirdo is aware of his reality.

Pro-employees start with an unclear self-image.

If you're the next pro-employee, then you must build your self-image.

Are you willing to stop being your mom's boy anymore?

If yes, then you're the next pro-employee. Click here.
