

The 44th Annual Sandcastle Classic, a San Francisco tradition, raises funds for high quality arts and architecture education for more than 7,400 Bay Area public school students who would otherwise go without. Thousands flock to Ocean Beach to build giant sand sculptures with architecture, design, technology, engineering and construction companies in partnership with students from local schools.

For more than four decades, the Sandcastle Classic has supported Leap Arts' visual and performing arts and architecture programs, providing transformative learning experiences for more than 7,400 Bay Area public school students who might otherwise go without access to arts education.

This year marks an exciting new chapter for our Sandcastle partners. Youth Art Exchange (YAX) and Leap Arts are coming together as one organization, strengthening our collective ability to provide transformative arts education for young people across the Bay Area. Youth Art Exchange has a long-standing youth architecture program and is excited to join forces on this event. By combining resources, expertise, and relationships, we'll be better positioned to support the creativity, collaboration, and community spirit that make Sandcastle so special.

As we look ahead, our 2026 goal is to raise $300,000 to deepen our impact and ensure that more than 7,400 students continue to experience the power of arts education.

The arts provide students with a safe, creative, and productive space where they can build confidence, express themselves, collaborate with others, and develop skills that support them both in and beyond the classroom.

Will you join us in helping make this impact possible?
