Morning. The alarm that I had set went off at 6 AM. I got out of bed and drank the coffee that I had made the night before. Then I ate some bread and cheese that I had bought last week. I took a shower, and then put on clean clothes that I had washed yesterday. I went to work and read the report that my boss had written. Then I worked on the project that my co-worker had started yesterday.