

Title Goes Here

Firstname-1 Lastname-1^{a*}, Firstname-2, Lastname-2, and Firstname-3 Lastname-3

^a Institutional Affiliation-1, ^b Institutional Affiliation-2, ^c Institutional Affiliation-3

* Email address of corresponding author

Abstract

(Formatting guide) This is the template to be used in preparing your Extended Abstract and Full Paper for the 18th DLSU Arts Congress. To maintain the format provided in this template, type over the sample text. The Extended Abstract, at the minimum, should contain 1000 words covering a short description of the study, objectives, related work, framework and/or methodology, findings and conclusion. This will be the basis for inclusion in the Congress program. The Full Paper will be submitted if you intend to have your accepted paper be published in the Congress Proceedings. (Tips in writing the Abstract) The Abstract section of the paper should consist of 150 to 250 words in a single paragraph that provides the reader with a summary of your study. It starts with a statement describing the current context that leads to a statement of the gap or opportunity; the scope of your study and what you intend to discover or share with the reader; a short statement of the method or approach employed in the conduct of the study; and a brief statement of findings and contribution of your work.

Keywords: Provide 3 to 5 phrases that fit the content of your paper; separate the keywords with a comma.

Header 1 - Introduction

This is the first paragraph. It is not indented.

The Introduction contains a description of the field of study. This can include the current context that may lead readers to understand the motivation behind your work, as well as the gap or the opportunity for exploration. A synthesis of prior work strengthens the rationale of the work.

The Introduction should also contain the problem statement, the research question, or the hypothesis of the study.

Header 1 - Related Work

This is the first paragraph for Related Work. It is not indented.

The Related Work contains concise description and comparative synthesis of prior work to give readers an overview of the field of study or discipline, and appreciate the contribution of your work and see how it fits the overall body of literature.

Optional Header 2 for Related Work

This is the first paragraph.

This is the second paragraph.

Header 1 - Method

This is the first paragraph for Method. It is not indented.

The Method describes the research design employed in conducting the study. Participant selection, conduct of experiments, strategies for data analysis, and adherence to ethics are also included here.

Alternatively, you can also describe the Conceptual or Theoretical Framework that guided the study.

Optional Header 2 for Method

This is the first paragraph.

This is the second paragraph.

Header 1 - Results

This is the first paragraph for Results. It is not indented.

The Results section contains .

This is the third paragraph Copy and paste the image and figure caption below when you want to insert pictures, images, charts, and diagrams to your paper.

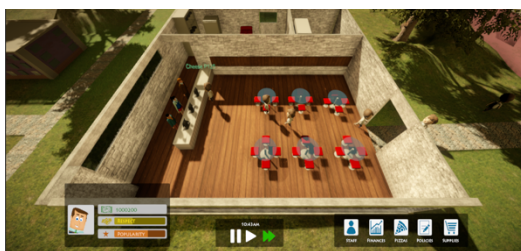

Figure 1. Copy and paste this part to insert pictures, images, charts, and diagrams to your paper.

This is the fourth paragraph Copy and paste the table and table caption below when you want to insert tables to your paper.

Table 1. Table captions should be placed above the table.

Survey Item	Rating 1	Rating 2	Rating 3	Rating 4
Item #1	N (%)	N (%)	N (%)	N (%)
Item #2	N (%)	N (%)	N (%)	N (%)

Optional Header 2 for Results

This is the first paragraph.

This is the second paragraph.

Header 1 - Discussion

This is the first paragraph for Discussion. It is not indented.

The Results section contains .

This is the third paragraph

Optional Header 2 for Discussion

This is the first paragraph.

This is the second paragraph.

Header 1 - Conclusion

This is the first paragraph for Conclusion. It is not indented.

The Conclusion section summarizes the study and findings, and presents a set of recommendations for future or further work.

References

We follow the APA style in formatting our References.

Lastname, F. M. (Year). Article title. Journal Title, vol. no., pages. Publisher.

Lastname, F. M. (Year). Article title. Journal Title, vol. no., pages. Publisher.

Lastname, F. M. (Year). Article title. Journal Title, vol. no., pages. Publisher.