

Name: RH

Using pages 16-17 of Everything You Need to Know About Frogs and Other Slippery Creatures answer this question by writing an informational paragraph. Be sure to INDENT using the “tab button.”

How do reptiles and amphibians use bright colors to protect themselves?

Did you know that the southern dwarf chameleon camouflages? They use bright colors so they look venomous (hurtful) to protect themselves from predators. Milk snakes look similar to venomous coral snake to look hurtful. They have similar bands to venomous coral snakes to help them protect themselves. “Their banding so similar to venomous coral snakes.” Some use venomous coral snakes color to look hurtful.