

Zaneta Bell Bio

Zaneta has over 7 years of experience spanning both small, medium, and large scale operations in the technology, supply chain manufacturing, and banking/finance sectors- respectively.

Zaneta has also been in the business of public speaking and presentation for over 15 years. She enjoys imparting her experience and knowledge with others, and had the unique privilege of first teaching a group of young black women in an enrichment & empowerment program at Princeton University for three summers. She has also independently worked with students as well as professionals in Fortune 500 companies and across diverse sectors of medicine, technology, and business.

Zaneta is passionate about, and committed to creating impact-empowering, and equipping where she can!