Client will provide their request with references and the artist will utilize them to make the sketch. After the artist sends in the finished sketch the client is required to state whether this is what they wanted or not. If not, then the client is requested for a few changes. Take note that the sketching process will be the only time changes will be accepted. After that, the artist will send in the final work in progress(WIP). The only changes allowed in this stage are the colors. Once the final WIP is officially done, the client is obliged to pay and send proof of said transaction. Upon receiving the artist will immediately send files through email and the business is done!
