

Call Me [Emo] Daddy Rules

I set more rules for myself than to summon a dead mom.

1. If asked to stop by a moderator or streamer, I will do so immediately. I may or may not ask permission to start before I actually do.
2. If emote-only is enabled, I won't do it.
 - a. If a streamer is subscriber-only, you have to gift me the sub. Otherwise no.
3. I genuinely follow the streamers in these videos. Not to override "follower-only" but to show support. I'll still follow them when I'm done, even if I don't necessarily support or like them.
4. My requests are currently open. If this gets abused, I'll move it to Patreon.
5. This is for fun only. I will not do this to attack anyone. If there's any indication that someone is requesting I do this as a means of attack, I won't take that request.
6. All of my main videos are copyright claimed. They're not striked.
7. Do NOT use this format to hurt, upset, attack, or otherwise be negative toward anyone.
8. I refuse to break someone's chat rules. If someone has "no song lyrics" in their rules or otherwise has something mentioning to keep chat relevant, I simply won't start.
9. To respect the affiliate agreement of other streamers, videos will not be made public until a minimum 24 hours after their stream. This generally means I'll publish them the day after the next at the earliest.
 - a. This is HEAVILY dependent on my executive function on any given day of recording, editing, and/or uploading. Even if I record the video, it might take a few days to edit and upload...especially if my internet and/or brain is being ass.
10. I will not correct typos and may get lyrics wrong. You have to deal with it.
11. If I'm asked to take down a video by the streamer, I will do so immediately.

12. If a video I make is attacked by people due to them not liking the streamer, the video stays up anyway. That's a personal problem. Take it elsewhere. That's not what this is about.
13. My opinions, should I share them, are my own.
14. Despite me calling it "spam" in larger streams it doesn't appear spammy. That's why I'll ask permission beforehand in smaller streams.
 - a. I won't be given OR denied permission in larger chats as they won't see the message. Chances are that they won't even know I'm there, and that's okay.
 - b. It's more like serenading. I'm still calling it "spam" for the sake of simplicity. That said, as addressed in rule #1, I'll stop immediately when asked.
15. I may reuse songs for deleted, privated, or otherwise pulled videos.

See links at <https://msha.ke/emodaddy>