

Complaint for Fraudulent Work, Concealment and Contracting without a License

Doc 5 - Independent Publisher

Table of Contents

Table of Contents	2
Independent Publisher of Small Business Education including Case Studies on Legal and Ethical Matters	3

Independent Publisher of Small Business Education including Case Studies on Legal and Ethical Matters

The Real Estate Agent and the Contractors were NOT aware at the time they did the work who would buy the home. They did this work with no regard for who might be damaged.

Thus, at that time, they would have had no idea that the purchaser of the property would be a Licensed Real Estate Agent in another State, a Licensed Contractor in another state, an experienced property rehabber, and an Independent Publisher of Small Business Education with a history of publishing related to unethical and illegal business practices.

That last part makes this a bit of a “Candid Camera” kind of moment for them as well as those who are chartered with investigating and/or adjudicating claims against them.

I got my start in Independent Publishing in 2015 by exposing Frauds perpetrated on Small Business owners and householders by Bank of America and every large retail bank in our country. From there I progressed to publishing about more Frauds perpetrated by Large Companies, Small companies and individual professionals against Small Business Owners and Householders.

Much of my individual work can be found at: <http://publishing.bryancanary.com>

Then, I added a partner. We decided to build a Global Publishing Company that would help educate the world on small business, with a small portion of that being “Real World Case Studies” that expose the level of Commercial Fraud being perpetrated against small business people and householders across the United States.

Our Business and Household Management Website is: <https://www.brics-practice-management.com/>

Eventually, this “real life case study” will be added to the Ethics and Legal portion of our library. Until then, it’s just a major complaint that needs to be handled properly and fairly for all involved.

I admire the work that James O’Keefe is doing to expose fraud with his undercover cameras. His work at Project Veritas was exceptional. His exposure of the Pfizer fraud was startling. His new work with Okeefe Media Group is exciting.

In many ways this is that type of scenario except 1) I don’t actively go looking for the problems and 2) I do all my reporting in writing, without videos. We both have a global audience. Mine is currently far smaller and more nuanced, but with our BRICs work, that will be changing shortly too.

I have shared this information as a fair warning. I don’t want anyone who gets involved with the adjudication process to be surprised by the fact that tiny portions of the world may be looking on in silence, with great interest.