

Rainmaker GLORY

Challenge

You didn't complete the challenge, you failed to become what you said you would be, now, you must ask yourself why.

The Rainmaker title in the copywriting campus is one of the most prestigious, exclusive titles you can acquire, the status that comes with it, the confidence you gain when you hold that title, it's glorious.

You can be part of this elite group, but you must TRY your BEST, day in and day out.

Will you be left in the dust of your brothers and sisters as we scale the mountain together, while you wallow in your feelings and fear? Or will you join the ranks of the most respected students in the campus?

The choice is yours.

Fill this out daily, tag Cole and myself in the #Agoge-Competitions chat.

Desired Outcome for the Day:

- FINISH coaching page

Planned Tasks to Achieve it:

- 4 GWS - TO FINISH COACHING PAGE

End of the Day Reflection:

- SO MUCH BETTER TODAY. Mindset wise anyway. Got out of bed and instantly attacked the day. Curtains open, push ups to failure, necked some water and got stuck in. Felt great all day, wasting hardly any time and was always looking for little ways to move the needle. Having a master doc as shown in the PUC has been helpful so far as it keeps my goals in the back of my mind all day. Looks like I have found some hacks to make sure I perform properly during the day. However there is a big roadblock I have to overcome. My lack of speed. During GWS I am focused, working hard, but simply not getting the work done quick enough. I'm tinkering too much with the copy and am never satisfied with my drafts. Will do another root cause analysis on this tomorrow to get to the bottom of how to fix it.

Who am I now?

- I am 24 years old and moved back into my parents house after a failed military career. Only have a few thousand to my name and my car is fucked and i'm MILES off my true potential.

What am I working towards?

- Taking financial worry away from my family FOREVER and making my parents proud.
- Traveling the world and seeing all the places I want to visit.
- Being able to be a strong man who can provide for his future wife and kids - to give them amazing lives.