

Hi, all! ( ^ w ^ ) <3

My OOC name is Ellie (@EllieRloche) and my linksona's name is Laramelia (@LarameliaLink). I use she/her and Lara uses they/she. They are AFAB, genderfluid-enby, and super femme. Although mute, they use their rather long ears in expressive ways and will sign or write notes in order to communicate. A few zora may also be helping them with saying "I Love You" out-loud to Sidon, but that's another story entirely. Quiet and a bit timid and anxious, Lara is quick to apologize for essentially everything. However, they are easily excited and get a bit overzealous of their support or enthusiasm at times. Lara's not so much of a heroine but is more than capable of providing support to that saves-the-day-type person. They're also... short, so they're in no position to be swinging claymore around expecting it to do any damage.

Also, despite being a fan of the series for years, my experience playing LOZ is encompassed entirely in the prologue of TP... So, I have a lot of learning to do, but I'm watching walkthroughs when I can to at least try to get some sights and sounds down! My sincerest apologies in advance when there are references I need to Google. Cheers!

Under Construction

Laramelia's Background (BotW)

- Born to and raised by a couple of farmers in Southern Hyrule Field
- Did not venture outside of Central Hyrule
- Grew up listening to folktale about the "Hero of Ordon Village" and the "Twilight Princess"
- Exhibited no signs of supernatural ability

- Village sacked by Bokoblins just before the events of the Calamity, already on the run
- Knocked unconscious by debris thrown by a guardian during the Calamity
- Taken by members of the Sheikah tribe when seen alive and struggling
- Shamans identify Laramelia's ancestry
- Put into a stasis chamber in a shrine similar to the Shrine of Resurrection, still unconscious

- Wakes up to find herself completely alone and locked inside her shrine
- Waits three days before she's finally found by others who had gone through the same process (Lei and Lucky?) due to the signal from her Sheikah slate that she cannot figure out how to use

Laramelia's Future Plans (Spoilery type stuff)

- Recurring nightmare about another world and a broken mirror
- Constant desire to seek out the mirror she keeps seeing
- Re-discovers the folktale about the Twilight Princess
- Goes to Gerudo Desert to find the Arbiter's Grounds
- Faces Molduga
- Finds a fragment of the shattered Twilight Mirror
- The Arbiter's Grounds ruins lift back up out of the sands
- Twilight Mirror repaired
- Laramelia swept into the Twilight Realm
- Laramelia discovers her ancestry leads back to The Hero of Twilight and Midna

- Gains the following abilities that Midna had
  - Hair magic (similar to Bayonetta's Wicked Weave)
  - Creation of Twilight Portals
  - Slipping into someone else's shadow for a brief amount of time
  - Speaking in Twili

- Works to end the stigma surrounding the Twilight Realm and the Twili

Lore stuff to work around

- Midna shattering the mirror to prevent another Ganondorf-type abusing the Twilight Realm
- Midna staying in the Twilight Realm
