

The Importance of Female Education.

By Kohinur Akter 14, Nayapara RC, Teknaf, Cox's Bazar, Bangladesh.

Female education is the precondition of the development of a nation. Both men and women are members of society. So, it is true that both men and women should receive proper and comparable quality education in order to build up a bright future and prosperous society.

Education is the backbone of a nation. It is compared to light. No development and progress is possible without education. About more than half of our Rohingya population are women. So, besides men, females can also support our nation to develop a prosperous and bright community.

A mother is the best teacher of her children. In all advanced countries, the majority of school and college teachers are women. Generally they are more friendly, careful and laborious than men. So, regarding my above mentioned views about "The Importance of Female Education", the concerned authorities and Rohingya elite people should take a better initial step to ensure good, quality education especially in Rohingya communities, camps and villages.

Therefore, all of the Rohingya guardians and parents should consider the better engagement of their female children in education like every male child in our Rohingya communities. An educated mother and woman can also play an important role in improving a bright and successful nation like a man. So, I honestly urge everyone to take all necessary and innovative steps to encourage female education for the betterment of our Rohingya communities and societies.

