1. Introduction

In Introduction section, it presents the background issue, literature, the purpose and objective of the research.

The paper is formatted into single columns with single spacing and Top vertical alignment. The page setup for Journal of Industrial Engineering (JIE): Top and inside = 3.05cm, Bottom and outside = 2.03cm, Gutter = 0 cm. The paper size is A4 with portrait and mirror margin. The layout is Different odd and even with Header =1.25cm and Footer =0.76cm. 2. Methods

In Research Methodology section, it explains the conducted research in detail. The author must outline the material and the methods used in the research, including the subject/material studied, the tools used, the design of the experiment, the sampling technique, the variable to be measured, the data collection technique, analysis, and statistical models used. Successive quotes in parentheses [1].

2.1 Headings

The paper consists of abstract, introduction, methods, result and discussion, as well as conclusion. Each section should be separated with two single spaces, except one single space for headings and second level headings.

2.1.1 Second-level Headings 1

The manuscript can be written here.

2.1.2 Second-level Headings 2

2.2 Headings

The manuscript can be written here.

The research results should be presented clearly and concise. The discussion part should explain the importance and shows the distinction of the research finding, rather than repeated research. Avoid using citation for this part and do not excessively reuse the discussion of other published literature.

Equations are written using Microsoft Equation (Cambria Math 10 pt) and numbered consecutively beginning with (1) to the end of the paper. The example of writing an equation is shown below in Equation (1).

$$P_{ij}^k = \left\{ \frac{[\tau_{ij}]^\alpha [\eta_{ij}]^\beta}{\sum_{k \in \theta} [\tau_{ik}]^\alpha [\eta_{ik}]^\beta} \right. \quad \text{if } j \in \theta \quad \quad \quad 0 \quad \text{otherwise}$$

Tables and figures should be numbered sequentially using Arabic numeral. All tables and figures should be named and centered. The caption of a table should appear at the top of table in Trebuchet MS 9 pt. The caption of a figure should be appearing at the bottom of the figure in Trebuchet MS 9 pt. Insert figures and tables after they are cited in the text. The example of table and figure writing is shown below in Table 1 and Figure 1.

4. Citing References

A citations and references follow the APA 6th or 7th Edition format. The references should be listed in the alphabetical order of the author names and in the order of the publication years within the same author's works

The minimal reference used was 20 reference dates (at least 10 years of writing articles, unless the discussion is limited) Content writing is not the responsibility of the editor, and the editor reserves the right to make changes and correct grammar in every script that is loaded.

The references and citations should use Reference Manager, such as Mendeley, Zotero, etc.

Each reference should be written in the order of the authors, the publication year, the title or source.

Journal names, names of conferences, proceedings, and book titles should be italicized and should have the first character of each word uppercase, except for the conjunctions and articles.

The article title should be written between apostrophes, e.g., "The Example of...." and should have the first character of each word uppercase, except for the conjunctions and articles. The volume, series and pages are written consecutively.

The three authors or more authors of a reference should be written as (Author Surname, Author Surname, & Author Surname, Year), for instance, (Brinkworth, G. D., Noakes, M., Buckley, J. D., Keogh, J. B., & Clifton, P. M., 2009). at the end of a sentence, or Brinkworth, G. D., Noakes, M., Buckley, J. D., Keogh, J. B., & Clifton, P. M. (2009).in a sentence. It is recommended to avoid referring a Web source since the availability is not secured. If there is an official document source, for instance, a journal paper, for the same document, please refer the official document. However, you may sparingly use Web sources. In the case, when available, the title, the author name, and the year should be clarified in addition to the detailed address.

5. Conclusion

This sections should summarize the key findings without repeating all the details. This section should also state whether the research objectives has been achieved or not. It is suggested to write conclusions in paragraph description rather than bulleted lists.
