

Private Lesson Request Form

Beginning private lessons is the bridge between recreational skating (taking group lessons and attending public sessions) and more advanced skating, testing or competition. Private lessons are helpful for skaters around Basic 5 and up or Advanced Teen/Adult, but anyone can benefit from them if a skater wants additional instruction or wants to pursue figure skating more seriously.

If a skater feels that they are struggling in group class and wants some more individualized instruction time and feedback, we recommend arranging a Booster Lesson (15 minute one-on-one with instructor scheduled during the lesson practice time on the same day as your regular skating lesson; $20). Please see the Skate Lessons page of our website for details on Booster Lessons.

A private coach is necessary if the skater wants to participate in USFS testing and competitions and highly recommended for those wishing to participate in an EFSC show production.

Private lessons are available on public sessions, EFSC sponsored freestyles, or Rink Exchange freestyles. Each coach manages their own schedule, appointments, rates and payment process directly. Each coach works a bit differently: some teach only on club freestyles, others teach only on public skate sessions. Lessons are typically 30 minutes, but some coaches offer shorter or longer sessions based on availability and a variety of other factors.

For private lessons, you pay for your ice time (to either EFSC or the Rink) in addition to paying the coach for the lesson time. For example, if you schedule a lesson on a Club freestyle session, you will register online and pay for a spot on the freestyle session and then also pay the coach their rate for the lesson time. Skaters will pay for Rink Exchange freestyles in-person at the front desk and no pre-registration is required. Be sure to ask the coach for a description of what is included in their services and what their policies are. See Freestyles Page for rules and more information regarding attending freestyle sessions.

Find a coach - Ask your instructor, ask other skaters, observe coaches and visit the "Coaches" page on our website and contact any that interest you. Communicate your goals and any other details you think are relevant. Keep in mind that schedule and ice availability will be a factor so sometimes your first choice is not a match. If you don't have a preference or need more direction, please complete the Private Lesson Request Form and we'll try to help you find a coach.

Private lessons are available either on Public sessions, EFSC sponsored freestyles, or Rink sponsored freestyles. For private lessons, you pay for your ice time, either EFSC or the Rink. You pay the coach directly for their services.
