

My Dream State

I was sitting in my room usually scrolling on social media and suddenly I saw a bald multimillionaire man , I liked this man so I searched about who is this man and this man was Andrew Tate so after 1 hour of researching who is this man I closed my eyes and I saw a multimillionaire god feared muscular shape me so after I saw this man I promised myself to become like him so from this day I am working very hard on myself to become the best version of me possible , and I started smelling and seeing The Matrix everywhere , when I look through the window when I go to school when I open my phone The matrix is everywhere so I understand that to beat the matrix I should become the best version of me or the “Top G” individual .
