

“Confronting Hatred” by Rudy Francisco

how beautiful would it be if we lived in a place where everyone called hatred

by its full name,

tapped it on the shoulder,
looked into its eyes
without shaking
and said

“you cannot live here
anymore.”