

Perävaara stories Photos

PHOTO 1. The Family on the yard of the historical guest house, Frankkila, in Kukkola. Photo: Elviira Taipaleensuu.

PHOTO 2. Letter F stands for the Frankkila house. There are seemingly big buildings and a dock on the riverbank. The Main road on the left. Karl Burman 1852, Lantmäteriet.

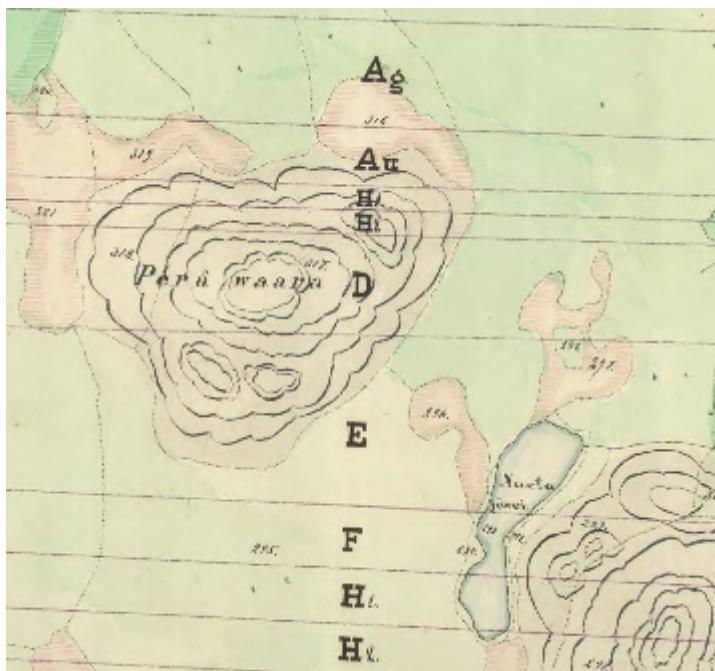

PHOTO 3. The Perävaara -mountain and the Nuottajärvi -lake on the map. Kukkola, Karl Burman 1852. Lantmäteriet.

PHOTO 4. These rocky formations in Perävaara date back to the ice age and when ice started to melt down. Photo: Jarno Niskala.

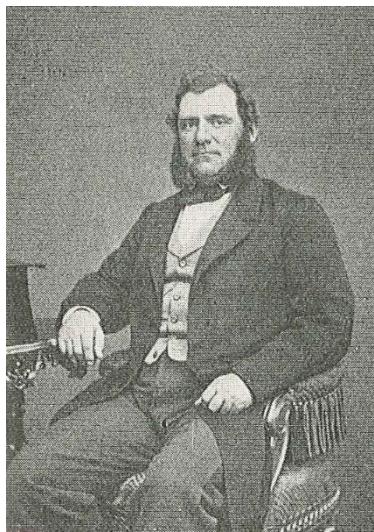

PHOTO 5. Carl Skogman. Photo: wikipedia

PHOTO 6. Scientists of Russian and Swedish science Academies meet. N.H. Selander meets D.G. Lindhagen and Wagner in the yard of Frankkila in the beginning of August 1851. Illustration by Aliisa Koskela.

PHOTO 7. Whitefish in Kukkola is roasted on an open fire. Photo: Jarno Niskala.

PHOTO 8. A Traditional whitefish sharing in Kukkola. Photo: Fishing museum, Haparanda Stad.

PHOTO 9. The Kukkola rapids. Photo L.O. Bergman Karungi. Suomen kalakirjasto.

