

Baltimore April 2015- A Reverso
by Robin W. Holland

burning
cars and buildings
angry black men
and boys
reaching for freedom
denied privilege beyond
color of their skin
lack of money
in their pockets
their families
in the beginning
marching in protest
quietly dying
still waiting
for a change
an open door
a lifting of the blame
a new system
a new cycle
a new day--
their birthright

their birthright
a new day
a new cycle
a new system
a lifting of the blame
an open door
for a change
still waiting
quietly dying
marching in protest
in the beginning
their families
in their pockets
lack of money
color of their skin
denied privilege beyond
freedom
reaching
boys
and angry black men
cars and buildings
burning