

Seven Ways to Be More "International" When You Can't Travel

1. Study a foreign language. Butte College offers foreign language classes such as Spanish, German, Italian, Chinese, and Japanese. Check the class schedule for more information.
2. Practice a language with Mango Languages. Want to study or learn a language on your own? Offered through the library, Mango Languages provides self paced lessons for beginning through advanced levels.
3. Borrow a library book. The library has many e-books to help you read internationally. Whether you like mysteries, history, or current affairs, we have a genre for you. Check out the suggested reading tab on this guide.
4. Join International Club. Are you an international student or domestic student interested in meeting new people? Come make friends from all over the world and participate in internationally focused activities. Butte College also has other clubs with an intercultural focus. For more information see the list of club descriptions on BC Connect.

5. Make friends with an international student. Students from all over the world attend Butte College. It is both exciting and kind of scary to live in a new country. Consider making friends with an international student to help them feel more at home.
6. Take a class with an international focus. A few classes to consider are Intercultural Communication (CMST 9), World History (HIST 3, 5, 6), Asian Art History (ART 3), African, Oceanic, and Native American Art History (ART 6), or Language and Culture (ANTH 14). Check the class schedule for more information.
7. Participate in International Education Week. During the week of November 15th - 19th events will be held online. Check the schedule of events for more information.
