

Social Narrative for the “Alt Text as Poetry” Event

Welcome! Today is Poster House’s First Friday event. This event means the museum is free and has events during the day.

This is a Social Narrative for the “Alt Text as Poetry” event on December 1, from 5:00pm to 6:00pm.

Poster House is located at 119 W 23rd Street, New York, NY 10011, between 6th and 7th Avenues.

If you have any questions or comments, please contact Poster House's Accessibility Coordinator, Sarit, at access@posterhouse.org or (914) 295-2387.

You can also ask for what you need once you're at the museum.

When you enter, you will see a security guard.
They wear a black shirt or sweatshirt.
You can ask them for help or walk past them.

You can walk past the shop and down the hallway. This area may be crowded. You will need to check in at the Info Desk. You can get to the front desk by walking straight from the front door. It will be on your left.

You check in at the Info Desk. You may need to wait in a line.

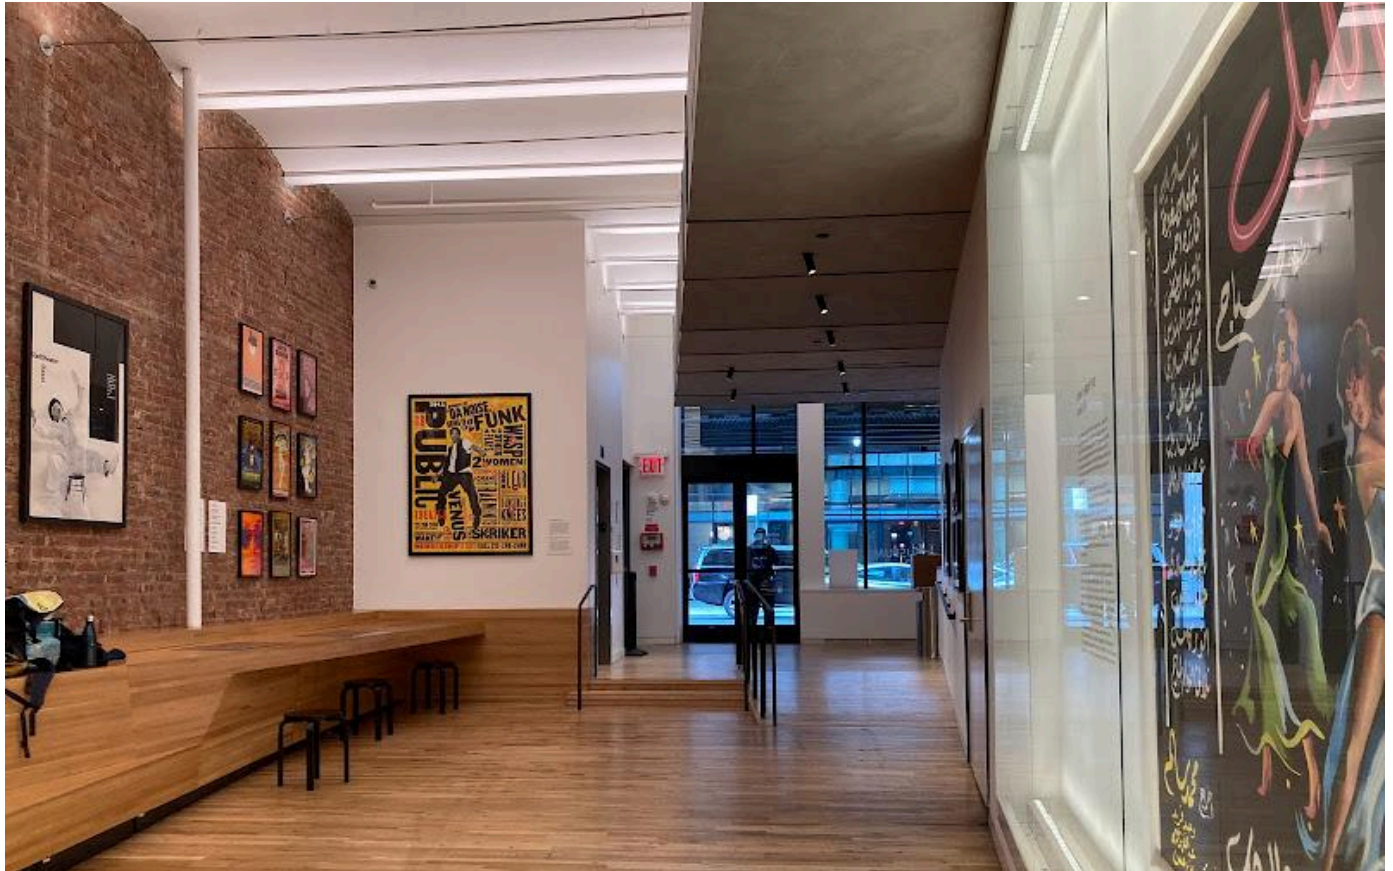

- You don't need to pay any money today.
- You can ask to leave your coat, bags, umbrellas etc. at the Info Desk.
- You can get earplugs and fidget tools at the Info Desk.
- You can ask questions at the Info Desk like:
 - Where is the bathroom?
 - Where is the “Alt Text as Poetry” event?
 - Any other question you have.

After you check in, put a sticker on your shirt or in a visible location. You can also hold it. This will show that you have checked in.

You can take the elevator by walking straight to the other end of the museum. This area may be crowded.

You can press down to get to the “Alt Text as Poetry” event.

The “Alt Text as Poetry” event is located in the Education Workshop room. To get there, you turn right at the stairs or elevator.

The education workshop room has three tables and stools. Chairs will be available too. You may exit and enter at any point to take breaks.

Once you are in the Education Workshop, you can turn left to find the bathrooms. You can use the bathroom upstairs or downstairs.

The bathrooms are gender neutral and single stall. There are wheelchair accessible bathrooms on both floors.
