I often see students in classrooms doing Give One, Get One, and one of the reasons why I really love this strategy is because students are able to collaborate with their peers. Oftentimes in elementary school, kids are maybe a little bit timid or they struggle academically, and maybe sometimes they don't understand the question that the teacher is asking in the lesson. Give One, Get One gives them an opportunity to collaborate with their peers to maybe feel a little bit more confident in what it is the teacher is wanting, and then they can feel more confident in their work.
