

Finding Places
States, Capitals, and Territories
Unit 1 Lesson 2.1 Intro

How many states make up does the United States of America?

Do you think you could name them all? What about the with each state's capital? The state capitals are important because that's where the state government conducts business.

The United States of America also has territories. We'll learn more about those later.

Try to name in your mind as many states and capitals as possible. Let's start with our own. We live in Minnesota and the capital city is Saint Paul.

How many more can you name?

Let's hear them in a song. Click below to watch a video that names the 50 states and capitals.

Shortened Animaniacs 50 States and Capitals Clip