1. has been approved by the co-author/s to be published in Surakarta English and Literature JOURNAL, does not contain plagiarism as a whole or in parts, and is not currently being submitted/ processed in other journals.

2. For investigations involving human participants:

This research was conducted following the principles embodied in the Declaration of Helsinki and in accordance with local statutory requirements. All participants (or their parent or legal guardian in the case of children under 16) gave written informed consent to participate in the study. If this research involves identifiable human subjects, the statement confirming that consent was given for publication by all participants (or their parent or legal guardian in the case of children under 16) is available. (In order to protect participant anonymity, authors do not need to send proof of this consent to the editor of Surakarta English and Literature JOURNAL).

3. The authors agreed to the principle that the withdrawal of submitted manuscripts is a waste of valuable resources, and editors and referees spent a great deal of time processing submitted manuscripts and works invested by the publisher. This circumstance can occur if the initial version of the article contains an error, or may have been accidentally sent twice to Surakarta English and Literature JOURNAL or a different publisher. In addition, it can also occur due to an element of infringement of the scientific code of ethics, such as double submissions, false claims of authorship, plagiarism, self-plagiarism, fraudulent use of data, or the like. Articles that meet the element of Infringements of the code of ethics upon the author's awareness can withdraw the article accompanied by a letter of statement withdrawal addressed to the editorial board of Surakarta English and Literature JOURNAL.
