

Sentence starters AS 3.4- Analyse a contemporary ethical issue in relation to Well-being

BE SURE TO INCLUDE THOUGHTFUL COVERAGE OF THE HEALTH CONCEPTS: ATTITUDES AND VALUES, HEALTH PROMOTION, HAUORA AND P/IP/S

Introduction

Include definition or explanation of the issue. Explain why it is an ethical issue related to people's well-being- i.e. it has an element of controversy, there are opposing perspectives.

The ethical issue I am analysing is...

This is an ethical issue that links to well-being because...

OR

In this essay I will be.....

Paragraph one

For each group explain who they are, what they believe and value, what their attitude is towards the issue and why, and what ethical approach it links to. For each group provide at least one example of key evidence to support your answer.

One group of people that support the ethical issue is...

They believe that...

This is because; for example...

This viewpoint links to the ethical approach....

Paragraph two

Another group of people that support the ethical issue is...

They believe that...

This is because; for example...

This viewpoint links to the ethical approach....

Paragraph three

One group of people that oppose the ethical issue is...

They believe that...

This is because; for example...

This viewpoint links to the ethical approach....

Paragraph four

Another group of people that oppose the ethical issue is...

They believe that...

This is because; for example...

This viewpoint links to the ethical approach....

Paragraph five

Explain a relevant combination of short-term and long-term, positive and negative implications of current practice for the well-being of those individuals directly affected by the issue, others associated with those people and society as a whole (eg the cultural attitudes and values of the nation, or the opportunities for promoting well-being nationwide in relation to the issue).

New Zealand's current law and practice in relation to the ethical issue is...

.....is advantaged by current practice because....

....is disadvantaged by current practice because...

Possible implications of this practice for individuals and people directly affected are...

Possible implications of this practice for those who are connected to the individual directly affected are...

Possible implications of this practice for society as a whole are...

Conclusion

In summary the groups that are for this....

These groups hold the similar perspective by...

The different viewpoint addressed in this report

