

TEA ORGANISATIONAL CHART

TIME BOARD

Elias Vance (Harrison Ford)

- A decorated former field agent turned time board member, Vance is a legend among time wranglers. He's tough, pragmatic, and distrusts overly theoretical approaches to timeline protection. Despite his age, he still carries the aura of someone ready to pull a sidearm and jump into a time breach if needed. Rugged, sharp-eyed and commanding.

Lionel Crest (John Turturro)

- Known for his encyclopedic mind and erratic energy, Lionel is a former Preservationist. A genius at pattern recognition and chaos theory, he's essential for predicting ripple effects of temporal disruptions. He's both brilliant and exhausting, often talking to himself or quoting centuries-old philosophers during meetings. Eccentric, wiry, intense.

Lin Yue (Michelle Yeoh)

- From the future, Lin Yue is centuries ahead of her fellow Board members in both tech and perspective, but has to keep much of this to herself as not to spoil the future — though the Time Board have oversight of the future more than the majority of TEA staff do. Unlike others focused on short-term fixes, she thinks in "century arcs" — predicting how small decisions ripple far into humanity's fate. Trained in both ancient philosophies and future sciences, she approaches time not as a straight line but as a living ecosystem. She's elegant, composed, and fierce. Mostly lives in her own time period and comes in for time board meetings.

Marianne Sloane (Mary Steenburgen)

- A founding TEA member, no one knows what time Marianne is from. She appears friendly, bubbly, and chatty but she gives away very little personal information while still making it seem like you're best friends. Her disarming charm hides a mind sharp enough to dismantle political minefields across centuries. No one can diffuse a volatile situation better than she can — usually with tea and a well-timed anecdote. She's warm, clever, and strategic.

Takeshi Mori (HiroYuki Sanada)

- Another founding TEA member. He believes in a strict adherence to minimizing unnecessary force and preserving the dignity of all time periods. He's silent and stoic, but seems to know the name of everyone he comes across on base, no matter their job or rank. He's observant and always watching everything.

Department Heads

HEAD OF PAST - Ezra Finch (Matthew Baynton)

With his wiry frame, tousled hair, and ever-present waistcoat, Finch looks like he could have stepped straight out of the 19th-century — because he has. He's a time orphan who never fully let go of his 19th century roots, keeping the dress style as a way to remind himself of where he came from and the life he didn't get to have. Deeply nostalgic, almost romantic about history, and an incredible memory. Known for carrying a small leather notebook where he records key historical corrections (and occasional bad poetry), and for his use of quills and fountain pens. Has a slightly boomer-ish relationship with tech because he stubbornly refused to learn it when he first came to base.

HEAD OF PRESENT - Jonah Kim (Randall Park)

Exceptionally approachable, the kind of leader who remembers every agent's name — and often their coffee order too. Behind his easy smile is a sharp, strategic mind, able to see both the broad patterns of timeline stability and the subtle fractures that others might miss. His quick wit and dry humor make him a favorite around the office, but when the situation demands it, Jonah commands a deep and unwavering respect. Optimistic and cheerful, Jonah is a favourite around the office, but when the situation demands it,

Jonah commands a deep and unwavering respect. Fond of a cheesy inspirational poster and frequently swaps out the one behind his desk to give his team a new inspirational message of the week.

HEAD OF TIME ASSIMILATION - Rishi Patel (Kapil Talwalkar)

A whirlwind of quick wit, nerdy enthusiasm, and heartfelt empathy. He's the kind of guy who'll make a Star Wars reference one minute and offer surprisingly profound life advice the next. His humor — often delightfully dorky — helps break down walls, making even the most overwhelmed newcomers feel at ease. Good at matching a time orphan with a member of his team that will best help them assimilate. Favours bright colours and neons, never quite shaking his 80s style or slang. Still totally in love with Madonna.

HEAD OF FUTURE - Selene Cross (Renee Elise Goldsberry)

Selene Cross is poised, brilliant, and composed, with a natural authority that commands respect. She speaks carefully, revealing little, and carries the weight of knowing futures she must protect but cannot share. Visionary and analytical, Selene leads with calm precision, driven by a fierce belief that the future must unfold freely, not be manipulated. Selene occasionally uses phrases or slang that haven't been invented yet.

HEAD OF HR - Victoria Harrow (Gillian Anderson)

Calm, thoughtful, and fiercely protective of her team, using sharp intelligence and dry humor to put others at ease. Though polished and precise, she leads with a deep belief in fairness, empathy, and quiet strength. Known for keeping a detailed dossier on every employee, as a way to advocate for them effectively when needed

HEAD OF BASE OPERATIONS - Gabriel Castillo (Pedro Pascal)

Oversees all logistical systems: facilities, transportation, utilities, supply management, security coordination, and general base maintenance. Always looks like he's been solving five problems before breakfast. His approachable face is the bane of his existence, because he's far too busy to stop and chat, and no, he doesn't care that you think he's hot, so he makes up for it with gruff, one word answers wherever possible.

HEAD OF INTERN RECRUITMENT - Kendall Reeve (Lauren Ash)

Her and her team track down potential recruits from around the world to be given a coveted intern spot, and expects you to know that you're lucky to be considered. Has a stare that could make even the most confident candidates second-guess themselves, but is exceptionally good at seeing potential where others might not. Just don't expect to hear it from her that she thinks you're good.

HOUSING MANAGER - Astrid Vance (Inga Schlingmann)

Daughter of Time Board member Elias Vance, Astrid Vance oversees all employee housing at TEA Base, ensuring the residential side of the agency runs just as smoothly as its missions. Practical, polished, and refreshingly direct, Astrid has an easy charm that hides a razor-sharp mind for logistics. She inherited her father Elias Vance's sense of order but not his sternness — Astrid believes in creating a community, not just a collection of buildings. She's the person to report any issues with housing to, whether that be maintenance issues, or requests to move.

HEAD OF TIME ANOMALIES - Elise Cheng (Lucy Liu)

A Preservationist who wasn't just a walking encyclopedia of history but also a capable field agent, unafraid to get her hands dirty when missions took unexpected turns, Elise has easily stepped into her role as Head of Time Anomalies. She runs her department with a no-nonsense focus but rewards ingenuity and resilience in her agents. She holds high standards, expects full commitment, and rarely shows frustration, but expression of disappointment from her can crush even the most resilient agents.

HEAD OF AGENTS OF TIME - Alaric Shaw (Idris Elba)

Smooth, clever, and deeply strategic, Alaric is a seasoned former Time Wrangler whose charm and tactical brilliance made him an obvious choice for Head of Agents of Time. He balances warmth with authority, often mentoring young agents while never letting them forget the seriousness of their work. There's always a glint of mischief behind his professionalism, and he carries himself with an effortless grace that puts most people at ease.

HEAD OF TIME WRANGLERS - Francesca Moretti (Marisa Tomei)

A former wrangler herself, who married another wrangler (not her partner), for Francesca being a Time Wrangler isn't just her career, it's her entire life, and she expects the same level of grit and devotion from her team. She doesn't coddle or sugarcoat; she demands excellence, because she knows survival often depends on it. Her Wranglers aren't just her team — they're her legacy.

HEAD OF PRESERVATIONISTS - Dr Alastair Wren (Colin Firth)

Dr Wren is always slightly rumpled, with an air of distracted elegance, and a tendency to lose track of his tea cup or reading glasses. Alastair is a former top Preservationist whose academic brilliance is undeniable, though his social skills are... a work in progress. His deep knowledge of history and field expertise earned him leadership despite his occasional absentmindedness. Most days, he's buried in paperwork or wandering the department muttering dates and timelines to himself. He may forget your name, but he'll never forget a date in history.

HEAD OF INNOVATORS - Dr Mira Anand (Poorna Jagannathan)

Dr. Mira Anand is a former Innovator who rose quickly through TEA's ranks by designing some of their most vital mission tech. Originally recruited from a top-secret think tank, her mind works five steps ahead of everyone else's, constantly dreaming up gadgets, solutions, and wild ideas that somehow just work. Mira is quick, fearless, and a little chaotic — she thrives on pushing boundaries and isn't afraid to break a few rules in the name of innovation. She encourages her team to experiment, fail, and try again, and again.

HEAD OF INTERNS - Macy Green (Donna Lynne Champlin)

Macy Green is pure sunshine with a clipboard — energetic, endlessly encouraging, and a little bit chaotic in the best way. She's fiercely passionate about mentoring the next generation of agents and believes every intern has hidden brilliance just waiting to be discovered. Though she can be a little scatterbrained when juggling a dozen things at once, she's deeply committed to her recruits' success and wellbeing. Macy has a big heart, a big laugh, and a knack for remembering tiny personal details that make everyone feel seen and valued. She also used to be a Wrangler herself, but retired to start a family and then, as an empty nester, took over intern recruitment to make them her new children.