I noticed that you were looking for something; more than looking, in fact you seemed to be on a mission (1)	A.	A.
We international students were sourced from around the globe, sifted not only by well-honed standardised tests but by painstakingly customised evaluations—interviews, essays, recommendations—until the best and the brightest of us had been identified. (4)	A.  B.	A.  B.

Every fall, Princeton raised her skirt for the corporate recruiters who came onto campus and—as you say in America — showed them some skin. (5)	A.	A.
His eyes were cold, a pale blue, and judgmental, not in the way that word is normally used, but in the sense of being professionally appraising, like a jeweller's when he inspects out of curiosity a diamond he intends neither to buy nor to sell. (8)	A.	A.
Like a transporter on Star Trek . Get it? Good. Let's go." (14)	A.	A.
