

JUJUTSU KAISEN:

CORRUPTION AND CHAOS

Template made by AilaniJae#2422

(Replace Image with OC image. Credit FCs/Art that is not yours.)

Source

“Aut viam inveniam aut faciam” (I will either find a way or make one.)

“You’re up! Make the most of it!”

| 将  Basic Info  将             |  |
|-------------------------------------|--|
| First and Last Name          | Calhoun Yamada                                   |
| Alias/Nickname               | Cal  |
| Age                          | 16   |
| Gender (pronouns)            | He/Him   |
| D. O. B.                     | 03/5/2005 (Current year: 2021)                   |
| Affiliation + Occupation     | Sorcerer   |
| School + Year (1, 2, 3 or 4) | Tokyo 1st year                                   |
| Voice Claim                  | Liam O'Brien                                     |
| OC Theme(s)                  | CasualCombat |

---

<<<----- << 姿 | Appearance | 姿 >> ----->>>

Physical Description: Calhoun has messy long hair that's usually tied up in the back. He's tall and has a large muscular build. He typically has a blue scarf that he wears around his neck and he is light-skinned. He has a constant smile on his face that conveys his positive attitude. He is tall and walks with a confident posture.

Eye Color: Blue

Hair Color: Brown

Height (ft and cm): 6'3'(190.5cm)

Weight (lbs. and kgs): 220lbs(99.8kg)

Clothing: He has a normal Tokyo tech uniform with his blue scarf over it. His style outside of school is usually long pants and with a short sleeve shirt and an open jacket over it.

Notable Traits: He has some long but thin scars on his face

---

««----- << 姿|Personality|姿 >> -----»»»

Personality Description: Calhoun at his core is someone who does good because he feels it's the right thing to do. He loves talking to people and learning about their goals and hearing their stories. Calhoun is the type of person to have a conversation with a stranger and have a good time doing it. He is someone with a "can-do mentality" and enjoys facing any type of challenge, especially with other people. Cal is someone who likes to give inspiring pep talks and loves to encourage his allies. He is someone who likes to support others and goes out of his way to try to help them with their problems rather than his own. He respects everyone he meets as he feels that everyone deserves respect and will keep up that respect even if that person is rude to him. He is someone who doesn't argue but debates. He likes to hear the opinions of people he doesn't agree with because he always feels like there is a chance that by hearing their side of it he might agree with them or come to his own new conclusion.

Calhoun also loves technology and likes to talk about its effect on the world. He will sometimes assemble and disassemble random tech he finds and tries to learn how it works. And if asked questions about technology he tends to get off-topic and ramble.

Positive Traits/Personal Strengths:

- Joyful: always in a positive mood
- Helpful: likes to help others as much as he can
- Understanding: always considers the other side of an argument.

Negative Traits/Personal Weaknesses:

- Impatient: Tends to get irritated if he has to wait too long for something.
- Anxious: Constantly thinks about his future duel which tends to distract him.
- Self-destructive: he is selfless to the point of putting himself at risk or overworking himself just to assist his allies.

Neutral Traits:

- Brutally Honest: says whatever he thinks with no filter
- Stubborn: He is stubborn when it comes to talking about himself
- Moralistic: is quick to judge someone's actions based on his own morals

Moral Alignment: Neutral Good

Hobbies: Video games, fighting, parkour

Likes: Technology, Working out, morning runs.

Dislikes: strawberries, lying, horror movies.

---

《 姿 | Cursed Energy, Techs, and Overall Abilities | 姿 》

This section covers everything from your OC Grade, Cursed Energy amount, the technique, and overall non-jujutsu abilities. If your OC has a Heavenly Restriction or is a Vessel, that will require an RP sample and very valid reasoning as to why an HR or being a Vessel may pertain to your OC via Backstory.

Grade: 4

• ——— • ( Cursed Energy ) • ——— •

This section is your OC's Cursed Energy amount as well as its cosmetic look in the aura

CE Amount: Average

Aura: A bright orange color and floats up like embers

• ——— • ( Cursed Technique/Abilities ) • ——— •

This is where you can share your OC's Jujutsu-related techniques and abilities (Black Flash/Simple Domains/Domain Expansions, etc.) Keep in mind, you may mention Domain Expansions, however, they are locked until you reach a Grade 1 in which there must be proof that you learned the D.E/tech IRP. Adding Techniques after "training" or re-vamps (in general or after a grade promotion) will require resubmissions and new techs need to be highlighted.

⇒ Cursed Technique Name: Crusader's Arsenal

Crusader's arsenal is a technique that generates the weapons and armor of the Crusader Valéria Yamada, but if the user possesses her actual weapons and armor (which are cursed tools) the technique summons them rather than generating an imitation. It takes training to acquire each weapon and further training to obtain their sub-techniques. From the base technique, there are 4 items: a longsword, shield, arbalest, and her armor.

Binding Vow: Inspiring Banner can only be used once per day.

→ Sub Techniques (If applicable): If this applies for your OC, share what abilities they can do with their CT. 3 abilities is a good starting point because "a Jack of All Trades is a Master of None." Albeit don't let that discourage you! It's 100% to get creative with your OCs through IRP training and learn more!

Disclaimer: Techniques based on Cursed tools like Tarot Cards, CT that rely on rolling/coin flips, or Playing cards will also have to be regulated. Should your OC's tech fall into this category, you are allowed up to 1/3 or 1/2 of cards/abilities (marked by staff's discretion- depending on OC's grade and abilities.) to start and the rest of the card abilities can be listed but must be labeled as locked until IRP training takes place.

In addition to that, weapon carriers (depending on grade and abilities), are limited to half their arsenal until the rest is somehow achieved IRP.

- Longsword(1 hand): Shield adds a defensive boost and the user can see through it, but can only be used when using the longsword 1 handed.
- Longsword(2 hands): When holding the longsword with both hands its offensive power is increased and the user gains access to Smite where the user imbues cursed energy into the sword which amplifies the next attack not only increasing the cutting power but also discharging the cursed energy in an explosion when hit. (A user with low CE can use smite 2 times and with each increase in CE amount the user can use smite 2 more times. EX: Average CE can use it 4 times, Above average can use it 6 times)

Calhoun developed his CT differently and made Inspiring Banner: where he raises a hand and a bright banner will appear and send out a wave that will boost his and his allies' emotions to increase CE output and will temporarily heal moderate wounds for 1 minute. This can be used basically to get someone up for longer if they suffer a bad injury but the healing is temporary. To boost the strength of Inspiring Banner he has set a binding vow that he can only use this once per day.

- Arbalest: The arbalest is a large, long-ranged crossbow that has an accurate range of 150yds(135m). A user who has mastered it can fire its bolts through concrete easily. ~~The only sub-technique with the arbalest is Quad-shot The user fires 4 bolts of CE simultaneously and the user can control where they move mid-air but the power of the bolts is reduced.~~

- ~~Armor: There are no sub-techniques with the armor but the armor provides a significant passive buff to the user's strength and defense~~

~> Cursed Technique Strengths:

The strength of this technique is that he can fight from short and long ranges and still have lots of destructive power with both. With Calhoun's version of Crusader's Arsenal, he works much better with allies. Shield also provides great defensive options since the user can see through it.

~> Cursed Technique Weaknesses/Flaws:

The weakness with this CT is that since Calhoun doesn't possess the tools that complement the technique he has to generate the weapons which take a bunch of CE so switching a whole bunch isn't a viable strategy for him (switching from one weapon to another would take as much CE as 1 Smite use). On top of that, some of his sub techniques take a lot of CE as well. This CT is also loud and not suited for stealth. And the explosiveness of his CT makes it difficult to use his sub techniques with others who fight in close range.

⇒Cursed Objects/Tools:

Your OC may carry Cursed Objects and tools, no higher than one grade above what your OC is at. For example, If you are making a grade 2, you can have up to a grade 1 weapon. (TLDR; your OC is not going to be a grade 3, walking around with a special grade tool or object unless there's some valid reasoning.)

• ——— ( General Abilities ) ——— •

- Trained with swords, shields, crossbows, and bows.
- Well above average strength and speed: can lift his weight easily
- Knows Latin
- Large amount of stamina due to endurance training
- Sharpshooting training can fire accurately for up to 150yds(135m)
- Good at repairing and jury-rigging tech.

---

《 姿|Backstory/Personal Life|姿 》

This section is optional but recommended

Calhoun lived pretty normally. As sorcerers go at least but the only real thing that was strange was his relationship with his 27x great grandmother who is a curse that is the armor she wore way back in the 12th century. He always thought it was weird but he didn't think much about it. She would talk and train with him(he got his scars during training) as he grew and learned about curses from her. When the situation of his grandmother was explained to him and he was told about the ultimatum he had to make if he inherited the technique, which was to either accept a future challenge to a duel against a powerful spirit(His grandmother) or lose his CT and CE. He then spent most of his time contemplating that decision. When he contemplated he talked to his grandmother many times and learned a lot about her, mostly about her regret for the vows she has put on her family and of all those who failed before him. And soon after that, he inherited the technique and without blinking he answered yes. The last 2 generations had declined the duel so when he was asked why he accepted he stated that it was so that his grandmother can finally rest and also so he can help alleviate the regrets of those who failed before. He knew that with this acceptance his life couldn't truly start until she is defeated since that looming duel may be the end of him, so he went to Tokyo tech to train and hopefully learn enough to defeat his grandmother.

---

《 姿|Roleplay Sample|姿 》

Calhoun sat in his backyard, staring into the distance. The morning sun gave everything that new shine that felt so refreshing making everything feel alive. The nice clear blue sky looked as if there was a still ocean in the air. Calhoun thought about the decision he made, which could've effectively shortened his life.

"It's not too much different from being a sorcerer. He thought to himself "I can't just sit back and let this continue, she's been so devastated by these vows and the regrets of those who failed before just keep piling up, so I'll do this for grandma, and all those before who died trying to get rid of this vow that binds our family".

He remembered how the odds were stacked up against him, but those don't matter to him, he's made his choice. He trailed off this train of thought, it'll only add more stress so he just focused on the scenery. But soon he heard heavy footfalls on the grass and he knew exactly who it was.

He thought to himself "Ahh, she managed to sneak up on me again, gotta work on my senses more. Whelp I should get to training again anyway".

Calhoun turned to face his grandmother, the massive suit of armor with its unchanging expression. But, after talking to her for a while Calhoun started to notice her body language to tell what she was feeling and he could see the sadness coming from her. He could assume why, she always apologized to him for the vows she placed on our family, but he doesn't blame her. Levin turned towards his grandmother.

"Hi, grandma!" Calhoun said excitedly as a bright smile spread across his face, excited to see her.

Calhoun saw the armor's shoulders raise and could feel that happiness coming from her. This brightened his smile much more as she walked over and took a seat next to him and looked at the scenery with him. They silently sat and watched, taking in as much as they could before they started the day.