SL: I sat and watched as they towed my car away...

It seemed like I knew this was inevitable

I worked paycheck to paycheck, and still could hardly keep myself alive..

And now my car was GONE...

I had worked countless hours, showed up to work on time, and due to the high cost of living, I still couldn't maintain the bills

I thought all hope was lost.. That this would be the cycle for the rest of my life

I knew something had to change... I couldn't keep living life like this, living paycheck to paycheck just to keep struggling

I had two options in this situation

Find a higher paying job, and just become a higher paid slave with higher amounts of bills

Or break free from the rat race, and become financially free

Thankfully I stumbled across a book that changed my whole perspective on finances

As time started to progress, I saw that the information I had learned was starting to take affect in my life

I got a new car, quit my job, and traveled the world with my friends and family

I became the boss, and I never had to live paycheck to paycheck again

And I have that one book from Jason Capital that helped accomplish all of these amazing milestones
