The advertisement features a dark blue background with a subtle pattern of white binary code (0s and 1s) in the upper right corner. At the top, the headline "Who said you need technical knowledge to build a business online?" is written in white, bold, sans-serif font. Below the headline, a sub-headline in a smaller white font reads "Manage every single aspect of your business, without the hassle". The main body of the ad is divided into four vertical columns, each with a small image at the top and a text block below. The columns are: 1. "Course creators" with an image of a laptop on a desk, text: "Make money teaching people what you know. Host your online training, receive payments from your students and sell your courses using sales funnels or emails". 2. "Freelancers" with an image of a man in a blue shirt working on a laptop, text: "Create a powerful website to sell your services, showcase your work and get more leads". 3. "Consultants" with an image of hands holding a pen over a laptop, text: "Run evergreen webinars, communicate with your clients and grow your audience". 4. "Small business owners" with an image of hands holding a smartphone, text: "Bring your business to life with our marketing and ecommerce tools. Sell anything to anyone with our point of sale features".

Are you ready to skyrocket your customer engagement and retention and make your competitors wonder how you do it?

Let's face it..

Most business website visitors aren't ready to spend a dime on their first click.

In fact, a whopping 96% need some love and guidance before they're ready to buy.

That's where the magic of lead nurturing comes into picture. ✨

By swoosh crafting strategic and proven sales funnel that gently guides visitors through their buying journey, you can turn their "maybes" into loyal customers.

Don't believe me? The numbers will speak for themselves:

☀️ Companies with strong lead nurturing strategies see a 36% higher customer retention rate! That's right, happy customers stick around.

🚀 67% of businesses leverage lead nurturing to power their sales funnels effectively. They're onto something, wouldn't you say?

So, how do you craft these killer (no de*d body involved) sales funnel that converts?

1. Offer valuable resources like blog posts, infographics, and videos that will educate your audience. Give them the value they need, so they will keep reading and consuming your content more!
2. Stay in touch with leads through personalized email campaigns that nurture their interest and move them closer to taking action and certainty.
3. Give an irresistible offer that they can't refuse such as a discount code, free e-book, free anything that will still give them value!
4. Make sure your website looks great and has a smooth and user-friendly experience.

Now, are you ready to take your lead nurturing to the next level?

Research tools like Systeme.io, a platform that does all the hard work for you, from email marketing to sales funnels—all under one roof.

May 6, 2023..

Some might not notice what that date is for. It is the date of King Charles III's coronation. Although he became King immediately after his mother died, Queen Elizabeth II, the coronation is an ancient rite that symbolizes the start of his reign.

Coronation... a time for tradition, ceremony, and...

branding?

While the Palace prepares for this grand ceremony, we can't help but wonder how they can adapt to the modern age without losing their historical and cultural significance.

Whether it's a crowned monarch or an up-and-coming entrepreneur, building a lasting legacy requires the same core principles:

- ✓ A place that showcases your story and values (think of a palace!)
- ✓ Having connection with your audience and building relationships with them
- ✓ Embracing change to stay relevant, but still has the sense of historical and cultural significance (not forgetting your value and why people should believe in you)

Just like King Charles III you can also build and evolve your own legacy.

January 26, 2024

People may not know this date, but you, deep inside you, you know this..

It is a date where you started making your dreams come true and building your own empire.

You started creating:

- ✓ A place that showcases your story and values by building those stunning websites

✓ Connection with your audience and building relationships with them by making automated email sequences that captures their hearts

✓ Ways to stay relevant, but still have a sense of your whys and why people should believe in you by engaging and giving valuable resources to them

If that interests you, then you can now start walking those small steps and slowly build your empire.

Systeme.io might be a big help for you..

It's 100% Free to start anyway.

Click <https://systeme.io/> to learn more

P.S. Start moving and taking action now as this might not be free in the future. You might not build your empire for free then..

Unlocking the truths of why some businesses fail...

“Start with Why,” a successful business owner told me. As I listen to his words I wonder why he had to tell me that, when it was common sense already.

I tossed aside what he told me and dug deeper on why some businesses really fail.

His answer was laaaame.

I noticed that some fail because they lack the understanding of their target market. They do not know their customers such as their pain points, desires, problems, nor their fears. They are trying to venture into the market blindfolded..

Their failure to adapt to change was also another factor. They fear change, so they avoid it. Not knowing change can help them remain relevant..

Another key factor is their ineffective marketing strategies, poor brand positioning, and insufficient customer engagement that limit a business's visibility and appeal. This was a huge pain in their company, especially their wallets..

But, all those factors I can't seem to explain why even if they have all the ingredients to succeed they still fail.

All these whats to a business success can't be on par with someone who has whys..

(annoyed because the business owner I tossed aside made sense sighs)

Apple is a great example of a company with a strong foundation of why.

They clearly tell us something that makes us believe them.

Why is that?

Because they are consistent with their why and it never changes..

They have a clear sense of what they want their customers to perceive.

They started with why and inspired people to act, not later, but now!

So, to start a business..

Start With Why
