

Hey Accelerators... let's take a moment to welcome our 26 newest leaders!

There are over 5,000 people in here! What if you were in a real life room with 5,000 people?

Do you think that there might be at least ONE person in that room who is your ideal client dying to work with you? Of course!

🌸 So... let's do something a little different here as an invitation to attract more clients and accelerate your impact!

It's easy and it's fun, if you allow it to be! Just two easy steps to attract more clients!

1. Create an introduction post, sharing the results you provide people AND giving us a glimpse into your life, show us who you are!
2. THEN, (and this is the most important part), commit to engaging in at least TWO other posts by asking a question about their service, expertise, or just asking for advice.

Imagine if everyone in here commits to these 2 small steps?

How good would it feel to have real conversations with each other? To have real engagement on your posts? To have interesting questions asked of you?

How good would it feel to have someone ask a question based on what you do, who you are, and what you know?

When we feel good inside of this community, we show up fully and authentically! And showing up fully and authentically is HOW you attract clients!

Who is in? Let's do this!!
