

H.S.O (example)

SL: The worst feeling I've ever experienced./

My whole world was destroyed by one call.

I finally got promoted and was earning the highest salary among my co-workers.

After All those sleepless nights, and losing my friends and the Women I loved,

It was my turn to live my life; my family was proud of me and I met with new people.

But then...out of nowhere

With a single call, my world turned unexpectedly.

They replaced my service with a world-class agency that nobody can stand against.

All that effort was for nothing.

I had two options...

I could either stay silent about it and continue to work.

Or try somehow to get my position back.

Thanks to a new mental model that I learned, I gained a new perspective and my productivity peaked, I managed to secure my boss's position and started earning five times more than my previous salary.

And I owe a lot to Jason Brick for this.

Click here if you want to learn the mental model that Jason Brick taught me.

