Profile

After completing a BA Radio honours course at Bournemouth University, I have spent the last 6 years working for ID audio. Which has included creating outstanding audiobooks, alongside sound design and effects for a number of different titles including Diary of a Wimpy Kid, Murray & Bun and Clytemnestra. I have also pursued a number of personal projects including the horror noir podcast Kane & Feels, pastoral fantasy microfiction series Ms. Shipton's Travelling Tea Shop. As well as winning awards for Case Notes with Classic FM (The gold award for best true crime) & two back to back grand prize wins at the 2025 Winter and Summer Sonic Dash for Scapegoat & Tea, Am I.

Personal Interests

I am a video game fanatic, I have been playing for years and love the medium as an artform and platform to tell stories. Some of my favourites include: Dark Souls, Elden ring (basically all the soulsborne games) Hunt: Showdown, Disco Elysium, Journey, Subnautica, Death Stranding, Don't Starve Together, Helldivers and The Legend of Zelda. Music is another one of my passions, some of my favourite genres include rock, hip-hop, alternative and anything with a funky bassline. Some of my favourites include: the Gorillaz, MF Doom, The Roots, Mastodon, Carpenter Brut, the Specials, Hypnotic Brass Ensemble and Fat Freddie's Drop. I'm also an avid TV and movie fan, with my interests ranging from drama and comedy to documentary and animation. Some of my favourites include: Spaced, Peep Show, Twin Peaks, Scavengers Reign, Delicious in Dungeon and anything with David Attenborough. Some of my favourite films are: Laputa and the Castle in the Sky, Alien, The Substance, O Brother Where Art Thou, I Saw the TV Glow and the Thing. I'm also very passionate about radio and especially radio drama, some of my favourites being The Hitchhikers Guide to the Galaxy and Good Omens. Other than these I have a large interest in comics and graphic novels such as Grandville, Rare flavours, The Many deaths of Lila Star, On a Sunbeam, Saga, Scott Pilgrim, Watchmen, The league of Extraordinary Gentlemen and The Walking Dead.
