

REVISITING THE FRAMES

Purpose

This activity encourages you to revisit your original thoughts from before the lesson, as well as track how your thinking has changed as you've learned more about early humans.

Process

Review your opener-activity prediction about which frame was most important in enabling human migration. Complete the table below to show how your thinking has changed from the start of this lesson.

I used to think...	Now I think...