

Choosing a haggadah for the first time? Yes, there are tons and it can be overwhelming. We recommend NOT trying to order Haggadot from Amazon right now as their shipping at the moment will not get to you by Pesach. Here's the good news: every haggadah will guide you through the steps of the seder. There are many free haggadot online so you will be able to get one even if it isn't your top choice.

Free Downloadable Haggadot: We recommend that you flip through the Haggadah before printing to make sure it has the pieces you want for your seder. (If you are interested in both social justice and full Hebrew content of the seder, for example, you can try printing two haggadot - one with each type of content - and flip between the two during your seder. Two Jews, three opinions, right?)

- Religious Action Center of Reform Judaism: The Story of Modern Day Slavery A Social Justice Haggadah. This Haggadah has easy to follow instructions, basic blessings in Hebrew and English and TONS of additional social justice perspective content. Note: This Haggadah does Maggid almost entirely in English.
- Chabad.org has an English/Hebrew Haggadah : simple, with Hebrew, English, and English transliteration of the Hebrew. No extra content.
- MezzuzahStore has an English/Hebrew Haggadah : simple, with Hebrew, English, and English transliteration of the Hebrew. No extra content.
- Jewish Federation has a barebones Haggadah. Note: This Haggadah does not have the complete traditional Hebrew content of Maggid.
- Jewish Boston has a Haggadah with easy to follow instructions, basic blessings in Hebrew and English and some additional context from a social justice perspective. Note: This Haggadah does not have the complete traditional Hebrew content of Maggid.
- Telling the Story Inside: easy to follow instructions, basic blessings in Hebrew and English and some additional context from a social justice perspective. Note: This Haggadah does not have the complete traditional Hebrew content of Maggid.
- My Journey through the Haggadah by Yekutiel Atkins. Full Hebrew/English Haggadah with reflections.
- The Velveteen Rabbi's Haggadah by Rabbi Rachel Barenblat.
- Family Education Passover Haggadah by Rabbi Barry Dov Lerner. Full Hebrew/English Haggadah with reflections.
- Mechon-Mamre has a Hebrew only text of the Haggadah with no instructions.
- Hebrew-only Mizrahi Haggadah.
- Hebrew-only Ashkenazi Haggadah.
- Hebrew-only Haggadah from Wikipedia.

Places you might still be able to order Haggadot:

- Judaica WebStore: check their shipping policy here to see if you can get a Haggadah from them in time.
- Judaica.com: check their shipping policy here to see if you can get a Haggadah from them in time.
- Bookshop BETA allows you to search local bookstores for Haggadahs here. Make sure they can deliver within your time frame.
- Your local Judaica store might allow you to pick up an order. Call/Email them to try and coordinate.

Tools for if you want to compile your own Haggadah:

- Haggadot.com allows you to build your own Haggadah.
- Sefaria has a tool to help you identify relevant commentary to the seder. Note: this is exclusively in Hebrew.
- Many haggadot are available as eBooks via Kindle/GooglePlay, etc. (Some, like The New American Haggadah and many historic haggadot, are even free). While this won't help you on seder night, if you are interested in more extensive seder prep, you can use them in advance to help create your own document.
- HIAS Seder supplement available here.