Learning Objectives What do I want to be able to do or do better?	Data tracking How will I recognize success? How will I review and measure my improvement?	Actions and Resources What methods and resources will I use to achieve my learning objectives?	Timeline By when will I achieve this goal?
I will more effectively plan to document my formative and summative assessments using a specific data tracker, and I will implement more engaging activities	I will ask for more student feedback on their interests/likes/dislikes/passions toward the beginning of the school year. Also, I will be more prepared in my lessons, which will allow me to give 100% to my class. I will document activities that are successful and use that data to develop more effective assessments.	I will research different data tracking tools that are familiar to other music educators, as well as following music educators on twitter. Secondly, I will research more friendly relevant activities from twitter groups and surveying my students at the beginning of the year of what they would like to see. Thirdly, I will be using successful activities from previous year and adapting them to meet student needs/skill levels.	Either after Christmas break this school year, or the beginning of next school year 2020-2021
I will practice more effective classroom management	I will document my experience during that day in a google doc "classroom management" and write down what worked/didn't work each semester. If I can reflect on the good and bad, it will help me work closer to the objective.	At the end of each semester, I will look for patterns where my class objective was met/not met. On my free time (I hope to set aside 30 minutes every week--preferably friday's) to develop my social media connections to research and follow educational organizations to scope out any ideas/tips for lesson plans	Next semester for one of my classes and next school year for my other because I get a new set of students for general music
I will research and plan Music Standard curriculums for general music 6th-12th grade before next school year so I can effectively implement teaching strategies and techniques for the class.	I will review all material, data and resources I used from previous year. This will help me determine what worked, what I can improve on and help determine different outcome strategies based on different skill levels of future classes. If students respond well with quizzes, tests, class activities and performances I know the standard techniques were appropriate.	I plan on attending an OMEA (Oregon Music Educators Association) conference this February to develop my connections, building my resources and asking for advice and tips for teaching general music classes. Secondly, I will review my collection of lessons I used from this past year (what worked, didn't work, what excites them?, what can I improve on or change?)	Realistically, the beginning of next school year 2020-2021, but I will start putting it into action after the Christmas Break (researching and creating a list of activities/lessons I like)
