

PLN Final Thoughts

Take a few minutes to share the follow info with the group, include your three biggest takeaways from the day.

| Name           | School          | Twitter Name     | Three ideas, resources, people, etc.                                                                                     |
|----------------|-----------------|------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Dan McDowell   | West Hills      | @danmcdowell     |                                                                                                                          |
| Sonia Gahlhoff | MMHS            | @sgahlhoff       | be persistent+ask for help+troubleshoot=success!                                                                         |
| Ben Davis      | El Capitan      | @davis_video_pro | twitter to hootsuite to feedly. big day. thank you                                                                       |
| Mike Lopez     | Grossmont       | @mldr74          | keep it simple on twitter. no one needs every comment. follow the best of the best in your field. they have great ideas. |
| Ina Liem       | Mount Miguel    |                  | Any.Do, feedly, twitter, blogs, all fantastic and great info! Thanks so much!                                            |
| Michael Wall   | El Capitan      | @mcwall82        | Sometimes you have to shut the door on Twitter every once in awhile. Any.do, Feedly, and Pocket                          |
| John Lelevier  | Santana         | @jlelevier       | Any.do, feedly, and twitter                                                                                              |
| Terri Beach    | El Cajon Valley | @terribeach      | Twitter, counseling blogs, any.do and so many great resources!!                                                          |
| Raul Guzman    | El Cajon Valley | @spanishcl       | any.do, diigo and twitter are great to keep organized                                                                    |
| Jerri Jordan   | Granite Hills   |                  | any.do, diigo, and don't bite off too much in the beginning!                                                             |
| Rita Riquelme  | El Cajon Valley | @RitaRiquelme2   | everything was new to me, so it was all amazing                                                                          |
| Jason Martinez | EL Programs     | @jlmartinezrey   | twitter for educational resouces, feedly, and pocket                                                                     |
|                |                 |                  |                                                                                                                          |
|                |                 |                  |                                                                                                                          |
|                |                 |                  |                                                                                                                          |
|                |                 |                  |                                                                                                                          |

[illegible]