

Compilation of Information of the United Neopian Federation faction and Homesystem

Neopian System

Neopia is the temperate fourth planet from a G4IV class main sequence star in a previously unmapped Anoikis system. It has two moons, a large primary, and a small secondary. There currently exists one major permanent orbital platform in geosynchronous orbit over the planet.

Neopia is home to various nationalities due to it being comprised of multiple nation states. Despite there being a lack of violent conflict between them, tensions are still high with competing ideologies among borders

Recorded Neopian history reaches back approximately 1,200 years, though the archaeological record stretches back further with traces of advanced technology and ancient husks of colony ships predating Neopian Dark Age.

Neopian bloodline names have been speculatively traced back to the names of the ancient colony ship husks, albeit corrupted over centuries.

The Neopian system is seemingly devoid of sleeper architecture, though remnants of ancient sleeper drones have been discovered in the Outer Object Halo of the system since Neopians achieved warp.

The Neopian home system is difficult to access, requiring extensive navigational work through Anoikis cluster by both wormhole, and non-wormhole methods to reach it reliably.

United Neopian Federation

The United Neopian Federation is a government entity that acts as a space based mediator for the varied nationstates of Neopia, roughly analogous to a microcosm of contemporary CONCORD. Technically has no direct control over planetside nation-states or independent, unfunded colonies. Administrates most non-corporate off-planet infrastructure. Sponsors some colonies.

Neopians have only been spaceborn and warp capable for 150 years, behind in some facets of industry, and sciences compared to the contemporary New Eden cluster, ahead in specific areas of applied science, cybernetics, bioengineering and genetics, and gravitational theory.

Aggressively adapting technologies from the contemporary New Eden cluster for use in the home, and two adjacent 'Neopian' systems. Most notably rapid adoption of Upwell technology, as well as vessel and weapon designs of various contemporary empires.

Two adjacent systems explored by corporate and governmental assets in Anoikis, basic outposts constructed in systems, specialized navigational warp beacons deployed instead of contemporary jump gates or cynosural beacons. Travel time between systems measured in days with specialized transit vessels. As time has progressed, additions of Tidebreak novel point to point FTL beacons, and a tightly controlled gate network between the three Neopian 'Core Systems', and a single locked down gate in J125956

J125956, referred to as the khaalgach Gateway by Neopian Baseliners and Capsuleers, is the main funnel point for neopian baseliners into the contemporary cluster.

First contact with UNF baseliners and contemporary baseliners in J125956, between a neopian scoutcraft, Interbus construction crews, and a minor Thukker expeditionary caravan. Peaceful resolution reached at time.

Political Relations with Contemporary Cluster

Cordial but tense baseliner political relations with Amarr Empire, Worst political relations with Gallente Federation, mild political partiality to Minmatar Republic, and politically favorable to Caldari State.

Worst Baseliner Pirate relations with Sansha's Nation, Equilibrium of Man, Serpentis, and Angel Cartel with notably extreme hostile measures taken to engage and remove from areas where UNF operate, all affiliated capsuleer organizations considered hostile. Blood Raider Covenant considered hostile and shoot on sight but not actively hunted by UNF. Relations with Mordu's Legion strained at best, unpleasant at worst. Relations with Servant Sisters of EVE formerly considered good, now considered strained, Pharos of Thera splinter group considered Neutral. Relations with Guristas considered generally strained, Schism splinter group of Guristas considered neutral, Valkyrie splinter group of Guristas considered neutral.

Sponsored by a relatively small but diverse group of capsuleers in recent years, gaining limited CONCORD recognition through loophole of allowing a capsuleer alliance to take on the associated name, the United Neopian Federation expanded into parts of the contemporary cluster largely unimpeded at first, with Neopians settling in enclaves across the cluster but largely converging in and near the Gallente system of Eugales for many years due to major investments of UNF capsuleer efforts into the system

After years of work and investment, repeated assaults by CONCORD forces, supported by Gallente Federal and other elements, forced an Exodus of the Neopian baseliners and capsuleers from Eugales to MHC-R3 and other minimally occupied systems in the nearby Syndicate region, as well as the mass transference of megascale infrastructure by novel FTL methods out of Eugales, where many of the Neopians that have entered the contemporary New

Eden cluster now reside in MHC-R3 on planets III, IV, and the associated megascale infrastructure that continues to be expanded on.

(Random glaring rage of sacrilege)