Current Conversations Fellowship is a Free Methodist expression focused on accompanying people on their faith journey by engaging in respectful dialogue around issues of justice. We are a worshipping community that is rooted in Wesleyan theology and guided by a flat leadership structure that allows for a safe place for people to work out their faith.

We meet 5-7pm weekly at The Sanctuary

Current Conversations in Action: Living God's Vision for a Just and Loving World

What does it really mean to follow Jesus in today's world? Join us as we explore the biblical foundations of justice, dignity, and hope.

In this 10-week series, we'll examine how God's Word speaks into some of the most pressing issues of our time—from religious freedom and the value of life, to racial reconciliation and caring for creation. Each week offers a fresh look at how our faith calls us to love boldly, act justly, and walk humbly with God. Come ready for meaningful discussion, deep reflection, and practical steps to live out your beliefs in everyday life.
