

Five Little Raindrops Jump

Five little raindrops, up in a cloud,
Are ready to jump; their mother is so proud.

The first one jumped and said, "Watch me!"
As she fell down to the sea.

The second one said, "I can do that!"
As he closed his eyes and landed on a hat!

The third one said, "I'm ready too!"
So she held her nose and jumped through the blue.

The fourth one said, "I'm set to go!"
As he jumped, then fell down far below.

The fifth one said, "I'm all alone!"
As she jumped down on her own.

Five little raindrops now can rest.

Each has passed the jumping test!