

Warm-Up

Why do we have such a fascination with disturbed people? Even when we are well, do we often see something of ourselves?