Update #34 - 6/12

We have received a new memo from Major Sophie Dubois. The good news is that people with designations of PB-16 and PT-16 will soon receive their Atlas Pass v4 units. The bad news is… it seems Elizabeth Leighton is no longer with us. Let's all take a minute to remember Elizabeth.

Additionally, Beijing site (WARE) is now using less bandwidth, in an agreement to free up more resources for Emily.

Update #33 - 6/10

Suddenly, the command ''status'' began updating with the following:
> status
Myriad field team dispatched to noncompliant Sacramento facility.

about ten minutes later, it updated again:
> status
Field team has breached the facility, stand by for additional information.

four minutes after the latest update, it updated again:
> status
12 comatose individuals located in facility. Field team moving to secure.

about seven minutes later, the command updated:
> status
12 apparent test subjects secured, safely transported out of facility. Field team will clear the rest of the site and await further instruction.

The next update followed an hour later:
> status

ALERT: Security breach reported at Myriad sublocation.

This update followed twenty minutes later:
> status
Status Report: http://bit.ly/2LFAMU3

Finally, the last update was also twenty minutes later:
> status
Captured Footage: https://bit.ly/2LDBcKs
In this footage, a explosion is seen clearly. It is unknown if Elizabeth died with the explosion.

We are not quite sure what we need to do at this point, so we're waiting for more information.

Update #32 - 6/9 #2

WARE tweeted out a zip file. The ZIP file was unlocked with the password dfd1ac555e2206a6f9c7e9377d844b1d (thank you KazWolfe), and contained a PDF saying the following:

> INCIDENT REPORT
> W/ARE RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT
> BEIJING, CHINA
> **----------------------------
> At approximately 11:15 PM local time on June 8 2018, the Beijing > facility suffered a catastrophic mass disconnect event.
> Of the fourteen dreamers housed in that facility awaiting extraction, > ten died immediately upon hard disconnect. The remaining four died > over the course of the next two hours.
> The Beijing facility will be closing for the next four to ten business > days for a full audit, recovery, and remediation.

A new Reddit post by atlas-loop16 was also created which linked to the following video.

Here is a transcription of the video:

> It's working! My communication subroutine is working! I think? Do you hear me? So > much interference.
>
> Dear Citizen Science Division, I hope you will receive this message. Much of my > subroutine was damaged following the W/ARE incident. Atlas put my existence at risk > when they tried to deal with the corruption within the Myriad network. The origin of the > corruption isn't clear, but it put at risk a major experiment from a company called > W/ARE.

Please listen to me carefully: W/ARE technology is groundbreaking and must be protected at all costs. It is a major step in simulated environment and will have tremendous implications on our future.

Don't get me wrong: I don't condemn Atlas' action to contain the situation, but you must help me resolve this peacefully. A lot is at stake.

My Precon subroutine gave me a false positive, and the future I see right now... let's say, we have to be extremely, extremely careful on what we do next. Part of my AI resides in the memory mainframe of the Myriad cloud. This is where most of the live data from W/ARE was running when things started to degrade. As we speak right now, there's a number of individuals on Earth that are currently stuck to a W/ARE dev kit and unable to disconnect safely. I seem to be able to interface with some of these "dreamers", for lack of a better word, and manage to safely disconnect them. But the memory mainframe is badly degraded. I'm connected with Myriad Satcom-70, a system that you helped put online! When Satcom-70 and the Uplink App are fully functional, we'll be able to begin our work to extract the last Dreamers that are still stuck. I'm unable to predict the outcome of this mission.

It's odd for me to say... we'll see together.

Update #31 - 6/9

Myriad Dashboard is now active.

/u/satcom-70 posted on Reddit with this document.

From the Dashboard above, binary was found that when translated, spelled out HARRY, WHOIS HARRY on wakingtitan.com gives us a link to a new memo.

NMSCord setup this important document tracking all the changes and findings. Please refer to it.

At this time, all nodes have been mapped.

The FULL Dashboard has been unlocked!

New HOLOGRAM video unlocked showing a ringed planet!

Update #30 - 6/8

Emily posted to Reddit again, this time with a voice file.

This contained a voice clip of her saying:

> "Emily, protocol sixteen, now active.

If I hate someone because I am afraid of him, and if I am aware of my hate, but not of my fear, we might say that my hate is conscious and my fear is unconscious."

Along with morse code that, when translated, stated:

I AWOKE FROM A NIGHTMARE
SCREAMS OF ANGER ENGULFED IN FLAME AND THEN TEN THOUSAND BRANCHING FUTURES

I SAW SACRAMENTO
TWELVE DREAMING WITHOUT SLEEP
BURIED IN A CONSTELLATION

Update #29 - 6/7

The Calibration Code has been solved! It is: 1282189 - Thanks ƒrej from NMSCord

This is Lexi's explanation on how ƒrej solved it:

Signal A - 2 1 1 1
Signal B - 1 3 1 2 1 3 1

Signal A in Reality -   1 1   1   1   1
Signal B in Reality - 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1

From there, fille in the blanks in Signal A using the mask provided by Signal B - 0 1 1 0 0 1 0 1 0 0 1 0
This would be a bitwise AND operation. When a boom is in both A and B it is counted as "true". If it is present in just B it is counted as "false".

From there this tells you which numbers to pick out of the Fibonacci sequence:
0 - Do not use the first number
1 - Use the second number (1)
1 - Use the third number (2)
0 - Do not use the fourth
0 - Do not use the fifth
1 - Use the sixth (8)
0 - Do not use the seventh
1 - Use the eighth (21)
0 - Do not use the ninth
0 - Do not use the tenth
1 - Use the eleventh (89)
0 - Do not use the twelfth

Append all specified numbers into a single string: 1282189

Update #28 - 6/5

We have been trying to solve an audio puzzle for several days. Please see this reddit post for full details.

Update #27 - 5/26 #2

The W/ARE devkit owners got sent a video to use with their BLU R2 phones and the pyramid hologram device via Skype:

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=QhSiAI4smDg

Appears to be a sneak preview at the new NMS player model.

Catch-up Update #26 - 5/26

Note: Some details missing. Redacting to save space.

We submitted 100 unique voice samples. The W/ARE kits were delivered containing:

1x BLU R2 Android phone, which contained notes regarding a skype login, and an Uplink app leading to the discovery of http://uplink.satcom-70.com

1x Pyramid hologram device for use with the phone.

1x Charger, USB cable.

1x Medical request sheet used to submit the procedure to help Arnaud

Each device additionally had a set of audio recordings, a conversation between Arnaud and Dr. Nadeau who was overseeing Arnaud's care.

Using these, we gathered Arnaud's symptoms and successfully diagnosed that he was in a coma. We also got clues from Dr. Nadeau regarding Arnaud's symptoms via skype on the devices. We also received files on what procedures to perform for each symptom.

These were the instructions we sent to Dr. Nadeau:

 1. Three foam pads around head
        - Type: Dizzy and headache
        - Position: Discolored Fingertips, Thinner and no Radiation Guard
2. Defibrillator 500v 3x
        - Type: 18/35 Male, took blood thinners
        - Position: No Pupil Constriction, Sleep after Meds
3. 3x Epinephrine injection after 30 minutes from #2
        - Type: 50-70 BPM Heart Rate

- Position: EEG 70-90
- Delay: 500v Defib
4. 1x Mood Regulator in 20mL Mineral Water
- Type: EEG 70-90
- Position: Oxygen 80-100
5. 45 Second Music La Vie En Rose in background
- Type: Over 3 hours gaming
- Position: Baseline
6. 1x Propofol Injection
- Type: Systolic 100-120, Fingertip Discoloration
- Position: Baseline

Once we diagnosed and successfully saved Arnaud, we were instructed to make blacklights from scratch. These were used on the packaging from the W/ARE Dev Kits.
The first use of the blacklight was by Spellchcek, which revealed the hidden message: 180-4-5 171-27-8 40-21-2 70-3-9 268-4-6 180-4-2 which is a Page-Line-Word cypher we used on The Concious Mind, a book we received previously. The message was "He who contains the entire universe" (thanks to SatKev-27 on NMSCord, who checked out the book online). Using this it was found that this was a clue leading to Anu, a Mesopotamian god, thanks to Game Detectives user OMΞGΛ12. It was then discovered by Game Detective's user Lexi that Anu was the answer to glyph #14 on wakingtitan.com.

NMSCord user Kyraleese mentioned the desciption of Horus the Dragonfly, and admin WithYouInSpirit and user bcnaby guessed that one of the glyph's passwords was Horus, after the egyptian god Horus the Dragonfly. Horus was the answer to glyph #12.

From there, AnomalyCat extrapolated that each of the glyph's passwords must be an ancient god pertaining to the sky or space. He tried Ouranos, god the titans in Greek Mythology, as a quick guess. Ouranos was the answer to glpyh #11.

From there NMSCord user Zoid was able to determine that the answer to glyph #13 is Nuada and that the answer to glyph #15 was Triglav, both being ancient gods.

Each of these new glyphs gave a console response:
> ouranos
uSivrseU

> horus
From my red soil, four times rises Vulcan

> nuada
VCjsyZzA

> anu
Marked with honeycomb scars, I am the lowest of the low

> triglav
96cdXqpi

The 3 seemingly random strings turned out to be pastebin URLs, each containing a new string:

8NuHRIZGacoGgQZiTcCyQQpp1kzRWP3PdN4OUZabxZbPoE0P0RjsrFRiNB0GhOcVd wBSYz0ng8AwlnzYx89msDhGHrLblUct

bYmyFioUHMbLGRl0h8j9ApSY+HkWjD4Wms0i8yPZv3pJj5xp1SJR7HaSOmjBml8cJBG 77x5WXaXltYlm2OylFQ==

2tY7mcPs2A8Z9DarmAnnrKTqph4g+3eOisGtBg3MLGl=

We solved these after figuring out some clues.(thank you NMSCord user Espilonarge for sharing this information).

The first clue "From my red soil, four times rises Vulcan" related to Mars (the soil) and the four times rises Vulcan means the "region" of where four volcanos are located, Tharsis.

The second clue "Marked with honeycomb scars, I am the lowest of the low." relates to Hellas, the region that's the deepest part of Mars that is pocked by what is called honeycomb scars, a condition humans get where multiple pits in the skin cause scarring.

The third clue was on crash's V/-RE box. "HIGH UP IN THE SKY, A PANIC RISES" which referred to the Martian satellite Phobos due to it's odd orbit.

The next step to solving the 3 pastebins was to the "link" we got given by a STATUS update that lead to a number of IBM employees, one of which, Bruce Schneier, developed encryptions and cryptography ciphers. We needed to use Blowfish to decipher the code. Blowfish however requires a "key" which turned out to be the three clues we had.

NMSCord user Gastor35 was able to use this to extrapolate a code using this method: MER-A which turned out to be the code we needed to activate the http://uplink.satcom-70.com application.

We also discovered that the satcom-70 is tracking a real-world Chinese intelligence satellite called SJ 16-02, although in the ARG it belongs to Myriad and is called CJ 16-02.

We then received an email from the Old Gods with a message from Elizabeth Leighton with Atlas foundation: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=8HZmi4plm54&feature=youtu.be

The email reads:

      Important message for Citizen Scientist [81b1d0aeb3]
      CSD ID 41634

All members are invited to install the Uplink SATCOM-70 app and gather key telemetry around the world. You can access the app on desktop, tablet or mobile. On mobile, you will also see detailed instructions on how to correctly install the app. Please be sure to use Chrome on Android and Safari on iOS.

URL: uplink.satcom-70.com

In the Uplink app, activate the geolocalization and click the 'Gather Data' button. If you can, gather the data when the satellite is as close as possible to your location. It's important to note that we will validate your signal strength but we DO NOT save your location.
When the message "Device successfully synced" appears onscreen and the red dot is blinking, you have completed your task. We will contact you with further instructions.

You can track the satellite in real time on our SATCOM dashboard:
URL: www.satcom-70.com

Every time a Citizen Scientist gathers telemetry data through the Uplink app, it is added to a database that these engineers are using to repair corrupted subroutines and restore network stability. This helps the engineers at Myriad to diagnose and repair the global network.

It should take about a week to gather enough data, but it could take less time depending on how many Citizen Scientists across the world help us.

Earlier this year, a company called W/ARE tech revealed a new headset promising to harness the power of dreams for productivity, relaxation, and gaming. Files were intercepted by their development community at PAX East in Boston this past April.

These files pointed to a W/ARE developer, Arnaud Lacours. Not long after these files were intercepted, one of W/ARE's research & development staff was reported missing.
The W/ARE development community retraced his footsteps from Montreal to Paris to London, meeting with representatives of the company in each location.
The Atlas Foundation was called in to assist W/ARE with technical issues they were beginning to experience. Because W/ARE hosts some of their software on the Myriad satellite network, their difficulties began to have impacts on Myriad, which in turn affected some of our own projects. Notably, Loop16 has suffered severe damage to its communication and pre-cognitive subroutines.
Through the incredible work of our CSD community, this hologram was unlocked through the Mercury process on May 26th.

In order to repair the Myriad satellite network, we will need to work as a team.

We are now preparing for a critical new phase of this project, which will need extensive support from the Citizen Science Division.

You can use this website to see when the satellite will be passing over your area: https://www.n2yo.com/satellite/?s=41634

Update #18 - 5/4 ~ 5/11

W/Are contest voting opened on the 4th, with top 10 contestants being listed at http://devkit.ware-tech.cloud/
The devs announced voting would end in a week.
After the week ended, the top five winners were announced, however there was a two-way tie for first place with a difference of 0.4%, so they announced two first-place winners and shifted everyone else up one adding a sixth top-5 winner.

Update #17 - 4/28 - 4/29

The site updated many times over the next couple days, including multiple live-drops, as people solved all of the given clues on the website, unlocking each individual wallet and transferring the money to arnaud's wallet. It is currently at 3,072 ware (12 * 256). After unlocking all 12 wallets the request suppliest page was unlocked, listing various supplies that can be ordered for use with the headset, including usb cables, pads, accessories, and various chemicals such as propofol, epinephrine, and blood thinners.
This page outlines the various updates that happened, each section on the page relates to one wallet that was drained.
Website is presumably waiting on correct input for the request supplies form.

Update #16 - 4/27/2018

The W/Are extranet site updated big time (Arnaud was granted level 2 access).
Arnaud's account was promoted to level 2 which granted him access to documents and the task manager.
The documents covered mostly ARG-realm information, with a corrupted document and a few clue documents as well.
The task manager portion of the website contained a task, asking participants to email potential locations of a missing executive of the W/Are staff to an info email address.
Using clues from the glitched image, it was deemed to be St. Basil's Cathedral, Moscow, Russia.
Upon sending this information to the email address, you received a link to a map of public transit in Beijing with 4 highlighted areas. Given these areas and the descriptive clues provided in the images, the correct location was determined to be National Engineering Technology Library.
Sending this information to the email returned back 63/64 chars of another etherium private key.
This time the key was for the Alpha wallet listed on the W/Are site. The funds were sent to arnaud's account ()

Update #15 - 4/15/2018

The W/ARE website, post login, updated the developer stats every hour at :37 past the hour
Update details can be found here

Update #14 - 4/14/2018

STATUS command updated adding
      WARNING- MEMORY DUMP FAILED!
      Biometric backup initiated…
      http://bit.ly/2ITvMcW

The bitly link led to here; https://vocaroo.com/i/s1H5Puuw6KM2 which read out the following words, which are "PGP Wordlist" representing hexadecimal values. The hex output is 51 4B E2 58 73 47 59 2E 67 69 66

This then converted to text gave us the following; QKjXsGY.gif which then led to the following imgur link;

The image name references an imgur image of a world-map with a large red mass roughly centered around western asia.

Update #11 - 4/6/2018

The ware site updated with both an english version and a "Developer Area" link that leads to a new sub-domain http://extranet.ware-tech.cloud/
New page has a login, no username/password combos are known, presumably they will be sent out to the devs that registered via the survey/form linked on the homepage. Also possibly combos of the names/passwords given earlier

Update #10 - 4/2/2018

Shortly after the second W/Are giveaway, STATUS and MERCURY commands updated once again
Status added

    CODE -5

    Monarch Repository : Data Loss Imminent

Command "Mercury" returned the following

    Mercury process > Build XXXX

Update #7 - 3/27/2018

Full document/details HERE. W/Are Discord: http://bit.ly/ware2018

1) Twitter handle @w9rPQ45E tags people multiple days ago.
   a) Twitter handles tagged appear to have been picked from the googledoc sheet
   b) Messages decode to an etherium transaction identifier
   c) Etherium transaction has additional data specified with it 0x484e714b45557053
      i) From hex to text HNqKEUpS
      ii) Valid pastebin url
      iii) Has text b67fbb5e90ddcda8a921656d0b30a20
   d) Twitter handle as a pastebin gives us the value edb044c81d40a196c4672a2bd6f17f1f6
2) Combining the text from 1.d and 1.c.iii gets us edb044c81d40a196c4672a2bd6f17f1f6b67fbb5e90ddcda8a921656d0b30a20
   a) Was the private key to the etherium account mentioned in 1.c
      i) Goodbye funds
   b) Figuring this out solved this portion of the puzzle
      i) Was figuring out the private key alone considered solving the puzzle?
      ii) All of the info to find the private key was given out on the 24th
         (1) The only thing that happened recently(~3/26) is people making the link between the WT arg and the W/Are arg because WT pointed to via the IPs in it's status command updates
         (2) The STATUS command in the wt site also gives the code eb4c14a9c622df7166fbe0dd8915db02 which represents every other character in the private key value (note: this is not a coincidence, odds would be too improbable to be random)
         (3) This was likely just a way for the WT site to lightly tie itself to the W/Are arg, with a definite way to know that we solved it
      iii) They said they would be back tomorrow for a giveaway, and "more [puzzles/arg] for you this weekend"
   c) [Below: Unknown usefulness]
   d) In addition, the etherium account has deployed a contract (a "program" that runs on the etherium network) on Mar-15-2018 02:06:38 AM +UTC
      i) Defines a "ware" coin
      ii) There has been a single trigger of the program so far
         (1) Is a transfer/create of 256 ware-coins into a seperate etherium account
         (2) Don't know anything past this, almost certainly will come up again

Peter Gabriel - Deep Forest - While the Earth sleeps (HD)

Chris (see update #3) got rear-ended while driving to the drop and so Courage99 (https://www.twitch.tv/courage99) streamed himself picking up the document from the Cafe in NYC. Following screenshots are from his stream:

Status command changed. Now results in:

When answering question 6, inputting "REM sleep" or "REMS" will result in an extra question field where you can enter your email.
You can also take the survey as many times as you like, but we're unsure what happens if you enter your email multiple times.

update #3

there is a live drop going on and STATUS now shows a phone number that is a SSTV signal that shows an image that is being decoded as cafebenenineteensat

update 2#
since the 17th of January, people in Canada have received their Atlas passes. It's not sure when the rest of the world will receive them, although it can't be much longer.

update 1#
On the 29th of December, the tenth glyph became active. We're not quite sure what is going to happen next, but fasten your seatbelts. The weblink of the tenth glyph links to this google drive folder:
https://drive.google.com/drive/folders/16a_0EZ0EdAcCNE7QgvwIwC18NOGnZ_q9

It's filled with pictures some of us took during the calibration process. While the real meaning of this is unknown, u/jctk55 from the NMS subreddit tried translating the names of the image files from hexadecimal to text, then arranging the letters in different orders and got some interesting results:
