- The Lady Panthers opened up against the Kasson Komets. The Komets got off to a quick 2-0 lead in the first inning and added 2 more in the 3rd, 1 in the 5th, and 3 in the 6th. The Panthers threatened in the 4th with bases loaded without scoring. In the 6th with 2 outs, Kiley “Clutch” Passow walked and stole 2nd, and was plated by Jaedyn “Jack of All Trades” Voeltz’s RBI single. In the 7th with 2 outs, Sophia “Powerhouse” Polzer walked and Ruby “Rock and Roll” Severson put the ball in play to advance Polzer. Jenna “Jackhammer” Schleusner hit a 2 RBI double to plate Polzer and Severson. A single by Caitlyn “K”rusher” Lerum plated Mallory “Motor’in” Mohlke (courtesy runner for Schleusner) in a close play at the plate. Kiley “Clutch” Passow crushed a ball to dead center but was caught by a great run and get by the centerfielder (Fitch) to end the game. Passow’s plays at first made the highlight reel more than once.

● Wear blue during the month of April to support all of our friends and family who are on the autism spectrum.

1. Autism spectrum disorder (ASD) impacts every 1 in 44 children. Boys are five times more likely to get diagnosed with it than girls.
2. Autism is among the fastest-growing disorders in the United States.
3. The term comes from the Greek word autós or self. Autism, in general, means being alone.
4. Autism affects all nationalities, creeds, religions, races, and sexes. It does not impact or differentiate any single group, though it is 4x more common in boys than girls.
5. Autism spectrum disorder is a developmental disability with symptoms that generally appear before the age of 3.
6. Individuals with autism spectrum disorder present symptoms in different ways. Social and communication delays and repetitive and restricted patterns of behavior are general symptom categories of autism.
7. Autism can be genetic.
8. Children with autism may be creative and find passions for music, dance, art, theater, etc.

9. Researchers hypothesize that autism symptom presentation in males and females may differ, leading to the latter not getting diagnosed promptly. This may be the result of females being prone to hide their difficulties due to social norm expectations.
10. Females with autism have been an understudied group within research.

Causes

1. There is no specific cause of autism.
2. Genetics are a determining factor involved in most cases of autism spectrum disorder.
3. Children who have siblings with autism are at a higher risk of receiving the same diagnosis.
4. Extensive studies have found no links between autism and childhood vaccinations.
5. The behaviors parents engage in do not cause autism spectrum disorder in children, whether before, during, or after pregnancy.
