

AGOGUE NEW IDENTITY TEMPLATE

The Ideal Version of Yourself 3-6 Months From Now

My Power Phrases (2-3)

- I am The Prince of my Bloodline.
  - I will be the Pillar of my Family, I will change my Family's course of History.
  - I will always, Go. Even. FURTHER. BEYOND.
-

My Core Values (2-3)

- Relentlessness, never truly leave something, without figuring it out first. I can not feel like I won when I don't have the outcomes I want
- Dissatisfaction, an annoying itch over my whole body that tells me to go after more, higher and bigger results, the hunger and lust to go after unthought of things in life and make them reality. The ideas in my mind MUST come to life.
- Heroism, I will endure everything it takes to hold the goals in my mind, in my own two hands.

---

My Daily Non-Negotiables (2-3)

- The Daily Checklist.
- Work on my graphic design creations or create content
- Come up with 1 new creative idea I can use in my work right now or for future benefit, whether it is design or marketing. Write it down in the respective document.

---

My Goals Achieved

- Social media presence

The first 100, 1000, 5000 and oncoming followers that all come together to my brand, because they not only feel understood but because they can stand behind my creations and wear it with the joy of being part of a strong bonding community that loves one thing. Cars.

- The first Sellout

As I drop my collection, my site gets flooded with eager fans of my brand and everyone tries to grab a piece as fast as possible, like it's the early days of Black Friday. Instead the number of pieces goes from a full stock to a sobering 0. The joy of selling out for the first time is still there even after now having to pack all orders.

- The first 5 figure drop

Having accumulated so many loyal followers through scaling, therefore dropping new products with higher quantities, that the first

10K of a singular drop come in. Now having the status of a brand that can dive into bigger ventures for myself. Dive into deeper and elaborate marketing systems that could not only change my future, but also the future of how people acquire clothes. This marks the unshakable beginning of a new innovation that is uncharted in the realm of the clothing industry.

---

My Rewards Earned

- Tastefully growing my body by having a sweet feast of fried chicken and rice. My taste buds and my body are celebrating a party all the while my mind is allowed to calm down for the day in order to be ready to fully conquer the next day and do it all over again.
- Every other week, I gather together with my fellow brothers at the end of the week. For just a few hours in order to shortly enjoy a simple time in life. Nothing better than brothers, a reason to connect ourselves and a few interesting topics to talk into the night about.
- At special occasions, if something extraordinary or difficult is accomplished, I allow myself to let my senses experience luxury. A new cologne for my nose to fall in love with, clothes for my eyes to admire and my skin to send signals of higher confidence to my brain because of how incredible I look, taste the highest culinary dishes I can find.

And once I move into higher echelons I greatly still my dissatisfaction with even higher luxury, travel to exotic places with sunsets and nature being more beautiful than any woman I've ever seen, fulfilling my sense of speed by driving in cars that are faster from 0 to 200 than most cars go from 0 to 100. Live in the most modern and inspiring homes, that one day I will call my own home to settle down to.

---

My Appearance And How Others Perceive Him

- Chosen prestigious garments for my body that are unseen and untouched by the common man, the highest quality possible and fitting for a man that creates unthought pieces of clothing in real life. Stepping into a room like that the same way a supercar or even a hypercar drives along the streets. Catching attention and having looks of admiration from all angles.
- One glance beneath my clothes, as if trying to dig up a facade, revealing the same standards for my own body like the cloth that covers me. A physique that sets higher standards in a single endeavor than most people have in all of theirs.
- Carrying an alluring smell which makes women feel like I subconsciously told them “Catch me if you can” “Come get me” “Get near me and try your best”. But on the other hand, have fragrances on me that underline my commanding respect, my clean hygiene, and prestigious appearance.

---

My Day In The Life Stories.

- I open my eyes and immediately see the sun greeting me through the window, reminding me of the beautiful achievements I will be chasing today. Getting out of bed and putting on my uniform for today, right after doing my first couple of pushups to fully awaken my body and to remind myself of the heroism I must go through in order to physically hold the goal in my hands after imagining it in my mind the night before.

- Starting off with a powerful and caloric & nutritious breakfast that will inevitably make me grow. Watching the Morning Power Up Call to garner my energy and use it to conquer the day ahead. Attacking each and every point of my daily checklist with the relentless force I am. Creating products with impressive aesthetics & solving issues left, right and center to ensure another day of conquest, produced outcomes and achieved goals.
- Improving myself through analyzing each hour I work. Making sure my audience's desires are fulfilled and satisfied, so that they keep coming back to me. Finding ways I can keep customers on their toes. Excited for the next drop and the next drop building a cycle of increasing my audience, increasing LTV, therefore increasing the number on my forever growing bank account.
- Once the creative work is done, social media or designing, it's time for me to turn off my mind and meet up with my brother from another mother. Building our bodies together in the gym and feeling nothing but pride for the difficult things we do, the improvements we make, the pr's we crush.
- Once we have recovered we go into our cars and seek a new journey, drive faster than yesterday, to places we've never seen the sunset of, have a feast that makes all the suffering, all the difficulties absolutely worth it. If I'm generous I reward myself with a small luxury to remind myself of what the world I can't wait to enter has to offer me. Prestigious clothing, a sunset worth a thousand pictures, a new fragrance to establish a subtle alluringness, a car most see worth going in debt for.

(ADD IMAGES BELOW)